File Cross Motion on Linderman Enjoinment Order Returnable May 6

Corporation Counsel Vernon Murphy said today that a cross motion will be made Friday in Supreme Court in Albany to dismiss a complaint in the controversial proposed Linderman Avenue apartment project on the grounds that the complaint fails to state a cause of action.

Friday is the day that an application order is returnable enjoining and restraining the application of Income Fund Enterprises Inc. of Jamaica, L. I. "for any benefits" under an ordinance approved by the Common Council last April 22, approving a rezoning change for the proposed 273-unit development on Linderman Avenue.

Adopted April 22
If the complaint is dismissed, Murphy said, then the ordinance remains effective. He said that the ordinance was legally adopted at the April 22 meeting on the basis that it was approved by three-quarters of the members of the Council which constituted a quorum.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan declined to sign, veto, or take any other action on the ordinance pending the outcome of the legal action.

Murphy said that the cross motion would be made before Supreme Court Justice Sidney Foster.

Justice Ellis J. Staley issued a temporary order earlier on behalf of citizens' groups in the 11th and 12th Wards affecting issuance of a building permit for the Income Enterprises project. The ordinance was approved by a 9-2 vote of the Common Council.

However, while Murphy ruled that the vote was legal, the (Continued on Page 10, Col. 7)

Asks Sweeping Reassessment, Commission on Peking Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called today for a sweeping reassessment of U.S. policy toward Red China and urged President Johnson to appoint a special commission to recommend new approaches.

He said "the commission could be headed 'by a national leader of the caliber and credentials' of retired Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who commanded allied forces in Korea; retired Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, former American Red Cross president; or Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, Johns Hopkins University president and a brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate, Kennedy said the commission could be asked to make recommendations on "vital issues," including:

—How to increase "informal" Red China, as well as scientific, governmental contacts with educational, cultural, athletic and tourists contacts.

—The problem of Chinese Communist membership in the United Nations. Kennedy did not advocate seating of Red China but said "if a system of representation were devised which would allow a seat for mainland China and still preserve Formosa's rights, it should receive serious consideration."

—Whether the present U.S. embargo on all trade with Red China should be modified to allow "a limited trading relationship...on goods which could not be used to fuel Chinese war machines."

Medicare to Cover 7 Million in N. Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Up to 40 per cent of New York's 18 million residents will be eligible for government financial help with doctors' and hospital bills under terms of the state's new medicare law.

The massive new program, launched last Saturday by a stroke of Gov. Rockefeller's pen, will cover as many as 7 million "medically needy" state residents.

Still Gropes for Answers
At least, that is the figure advanced by the State Department of Social Welfare, which still is groping for answers to many questions on how the program will work.

The Welfare Department will oversee the federally aided program. The U.S. government is expected to add another $90 million to the $250 million now spent by local and state governments.

The plan, for which New York State participation was authorized by the Legislature after a prolonged dispute, is distinct from the main federal program of Medicare for the aged.

Low-Incomes Covered
The state plan will provide benefits for most families in the low-income bracket. For example, a family of four with one wage earner will be eligible if its net income—after taxes—is below $6,000 a year, or about $114 a week.

Those whose applications are approved by the Social Welfare Department — after investigations by local welfare units—will be eligible for government payment of part or all of the costs of:

—Services of physicians, dentists, nurses, optometrists and podiatrists.

—Care, treatment and nursing services in hospitals, nursing homes or other qualified medical institutions; out-patient hospital or clinic services, and home nursing services.

—Drugs, sickroom supplies, eyeglasses, false teeth and artificial limbs.

—Physical therapy, laboratory and X-ray services and transportation necessary to obtain medical and hospital services.

Hope Dems Yield on Wage Plan Seek Compromise To Up Minimum

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller and the Legislature's Republican leaders sought ways today to compromise their dispute with the Democrats over raising the minimum wage in New York State to $1.50 an hour.

As the Legislature returned to action after a three-day recess, the Assembly also prepared to take up bills designed to strengthen the code of ethics for state lawmakers and their employees.

Sends Pollution Bill
Meanwhile, Gov. Rockefeller sent to the Legislature a bill that would reinforce the state's efforts in combatting air pollution.

Rockefeller and the Senate's GOP leadership have been locked in a dispute with Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, the Legislature's top-ranking Democrat, over the timetable for boosting the minimum wage from $1.25 an hour.

The conflict was shoved to the background last week when the same adversaries struggled over rival plans for a state medicare program.

Travia eased through the Democratic-controlled Assembly last month a bill that would increase the minimum to $1.50 an hour, effective Oct. 15.

GOP Solons Agree
At the same time, Rockefeller and Senate Republicans announced agreement on a plan to raise the minimum in two stages — to $1.40 an hour on Sept. 1 and then to $1.50 the following April 1.

A compromise had appeared to be in the making, when (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

Set Public Hearings at Saugerties

Two public hearings were slated for later this month by the Saugerties Village Board at its meeting Monday night. The Board also formally accepted a parcel of property offered to the village by Mrs. Katherine Knaust. This land adjoins Seamon Park and is the site of the historic old grist mill.

Both Prior to May 23
Both public hearings will be held prior to a May 23 meeting of the board, replacing the regular meeting which has been slated May 16. The first hearing will concern the adoption of an ordinance regulating abandoned or junked motor vehicles in the village limits. A number of these are in evidence locally and the Saugerties Board has been guided in the wording of its proposed ordinance by models used in other communities and furnished by the Conference of Mayors. The abandoned cars ordinance was drawn up by Police Commissioner Charles Steele and provides for the disposition of junked vehicles.

The second public hearing has been called for the adoption of an ordinance concerning parking and entering and exiting from the Partition Street parking lot. Proposals include the designation of the front area of the lot for two hour only parking and the back of the lot for all day parking. The new ordinance also calls for all cars to exit on Russell Street and all buses and trucks to exit on Partition Street. In this connection, the Russell Street exit is about 60 per cent completed at this time, and the placing of needed stone and (Continued on Page 10, Col. 8)

McNamara Hinting More Viet Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says South Vietnamese political unrest cut allied military operations by more than half and prompted administration fears of civil war and the overthrow of the government in Saigon.

McNamara made the disclosures as he fielded questions from the floor of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention Monday.

"Afraid of Civil War"
"The tempo of military operations was adversely affected by the political disorders," McNamara said. He estimated operations against the Viet Cong were reduced 50 to 70 per cent.

But he said the administration had feared more severe effects. "We were afraid of a civil war, we were afraid of the separation of the entire northern part of the country, and of the overthrow of the government," he said.

McNamara also acknowledged that despite the bombing of North Viet Nam the number of Communist infiltrators is three times above the level of a year ago.

And, he added, "we probably will have to increase the number of our troops."

In Detroit, U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said the United Nations "is not going to join, as it did in Korea, in the military defense of Viet Nam against aggression."

Goldberg Favors Table
And he told the Economic Club of Detroit Monday he did not know when an opportunity will present itself to negotiate an honorable settlement.

But he said the Vietnamese conflict should be settled at the conference table, adding that the United States "would be delighted to stop the fighting... tomorrow but it is a two-sided proposition."

Lull Still Persists Across Viet

No Villages Near Point of Barrage

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. command for the first time today officially acknowledged shelling into Cambodia.

A spokesman said American artillerymen unleashed a heavy artillery barrage Saturday to silence "very heavy" automatic weapons and mortar fire from across the border.

Troops Making Sweep
The Viet Cong was firing on a battalion of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, which was making a sweep on the South Vietnamese side of the Cai Bac River, the spokesman said.

The artillery duel took place in Tay Ninh Province about 75 miles northwest of Saigon.

This border sector has been the scene of the 1st Division's Operation Birmingham for the past nine days. During the drive, American troops seized the biggest cache of Viet Cong supplies of the war.

B52s Hit Again
The area has been pounded repeatedly in recent days by B52 bombers from Guam. They unloaded their 750-pound bombs there again today.

American planes flew 305 combat sorties over South Viet Nam Monday, while the three-week lull in ground fighting persisted.

There have been repeated unofficial reports of U.S. troops firing into Cambodia, but the disclosure today was the first official acknowledgment.

The spokesman said the decision to shell the Viet Cong across the frontier was made by the battalion commander on the spot.

Field commanders are authorized to take any means at their disposal to protect their troops, the spokesman said. The area shelled contained no villages and the nearest settlement was about five miles away, he added.

Find More Supplies
The 1st Division continued to find Viet Cong supplies. The U. S. spokesman said the haul to date included 1,367 tons of rice, 6,800 uniforms, 1,200 pairs of sandals, 1,850 shirts, 1,800 shorts, 1,925 gallons of fuel, 1,000 pounds of medical supplies, 19 motorized boats, 35 sampans, 69 buildings and huts, 27 base camps and quantities of mortar shells, grenades and small-arms ammunition.

In air action over North Viet Nam Monday, the spokesman reported, a Navy A4E Skyhawk jet was shot down by ground fire 10 miles northeast of Vinh.

The pilot was seen to parachute but he was not picked up and is listed as missing in action.

Lurleen, Negro Ballot Power Will Highlight Primaries in Alabama, 5 Other States Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Primary elections in six states today begin drawing the Democratic-Republican lineups for the fall election, and — in Alabama — test the increased Negro ballot box power since enactment of the 1965 voting rights law.

Florida, Indiana, New Mexico, Ohio and Oklahoma are also holding primaries.

But there is no contest elsewhere to compete for national attention with the big one in Alabama.

There, against a background of increased Negro registration, Gov. George C. Wallace, long a symbol of race segregation, hoped to get his wife named as the Democratic nominee to succeed him. He is barred from re-election by the state constitution.

Nine candidates are competing with 39-year-old Mrs. Lurleen Wallace for the nomination. One, Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, openly bid for the Negro vote and in advance of the balloting appeared to have it pretty solidly.

The other candidates in the big field include state Sen. Bob Gilchrist, ex-Congressman Carl Elliott, former Govs. John Patterson and James Folsom; Eunice I. Gore, state Agriculture Commissioner A. W. Todd and Charles Woods.

Mrs. Wallace is expected to lead the primary field but there were doubts she could get a majority. If no candidate gets a majority, there will be a runoff May 31.

Federal examiners went into Alabama earlier under the voting rights law and certified as voters thousands of Negroes who claimed they had been denied their voting rights. Federal agents also were assigned to watch the polls today in seven counties.

The present eligible Negro vote is estimated at 235,000, about double that of two years ago, and roughly 20 per cent of the present electorate.

There has been increased Negro registration also in Florida but the primary campaign developed no indication there of any tendency toward bloc voting.

Gov. Haydon Burns, seeking the Democratic nomination for re-election, was in a contest with Mayor Robert King High of Miami; Scott Kelly of Lakeland, a former state senator, and Sam

College Invites Public To Meeting Monday

Citizens of Ulster County are invited to an informational meeting scheduled in Room 34 at the college at 8 p. m. Monday, May 9, according to an announcement made today by Bernard A. Feeney Sr., vice chairman of the Board of Trustees of Ulster County Community College.

Feeney reported that the meeting had been scheduled at the suggestion of a number of interested people in the community who were interested in the college and anxious to see the further development of the Stone Ridge campus move forward without delay.

The college is now operating in temporary facilities in Kingston and has made amazing progress in its short period of existence. Over 2,600 people have registered for college level work on either a full time or part time basis since the college opened in 1963.

It is recognized that the scope of the first phase of construction at Stone Ridge now under way will be inadequate to meet the anticipated enrollment and curriculum growth of the college.

Find 100 Bodies After Eruption

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The bodies of 100 victims of Mt. Kelut volcano have been recovered and the fate of several hundred villagers is not known, press reports from East Java said today.

In the neighboring Lesser Sunda Islands, flash floods caused by heavy rains killed 32 persons, drove 250 from their homes and destroyed hundreds of acres of rice land.

Mt. Kelut erupted a week ago, spilling lava down its 5,679-foot slopes toward several major towns. Reports reaching Jakarta said one village near the rim of the crater and crops within a five-mile radius were destroyed.

The official news agency Antara said the lava approached the northeast edge of Blitar, a major trading center where many of President Sukarno's relatives live.

Thirty-five persons were trapped for more than 12 hours on top of a rock when searing lava surrounded them, Antara said.

The search for victims in the densely populated area goes on although the volcano continues to rumble and smoulder.

Plans New Road To Point Beach

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan said today that plans were under way to improve the Kingston Point recreation area, including a new access road on Beach Street, which had been closed a number of years.

The mayor said that the new road, which would be constructed by the Board of Public Works, would run along Delaware Avenue parallel to Delaware Avenue on the North Street side, extending for a distance of about 150 feet. He said that it was hoped that the new road would be open Memorial Day, enabling people to drive through the new exit. At present, the only access road to the beach other than Delaware Avenue is Essex Street.

Dear Abby . . . Break the News to Mother

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a serious problem. My mother never gets dressed up to take me to school. It's too far for me to walk, so my mother drives me. But Abby, you should see how she looks! She throws a coat over her bathrobe (which isn't too bad because nobody can see it.) But her hair is a mess, and she doesn't have a drop of make-up on. She looks just awful.

The kids see her in the car, and it embarrasses me. I love my mother and we are very close; I hate to hurt her feelings. Can you help me?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: I'm sure if your mother knew she was embarrassing you before your friends, she would take the extra few minutes to make herself a little more presentable.

A touch of lipstick and a colorful scarf would do wonders. Tell her. You'd be surprised how understanding and receptive mothers can be when suggestions are presented properly.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend is in Viet Nam and I write him nearly every day. I recently took a job as a cocktail waitress. We have to wear costumes that show quite a bit. They are not topless, but there's not much to the top, and there is very little to the bottom, too. I guess it's about the size of a bikini bathing suit. Well, Johnny wrote from Viet Nam and said he wanted to know all about my new job and what my uniform looks like. How should I describe it?

JUDY

DEAR JUDY: Tell him it looks like JUDY.

DEAR ABBY: For 18 miserable years my husband suffered with the gambling disease. He had hit bottom, was about to lose his business, was deeply in debt, and could get no help from anyone anymore. Then on December 11, 1965, he read an item in your column in which you mentioned Gambling Anonymous and gave their address. I know you will be happy to know that my husband contacted them and became a member. He hasn't missed a meeting. Last week we went to two. He hasn't gambled since, and I think he is going to be all right.

Abby, today he is a different man. Calm, good, understanding. No more hysterics over every little thing. He's trying to make it up to me and the children for all we missed those years when he was always broke and in a bad mood. I want to thank Sam of Jamaica, a most wonderful man, a member of G. A., who called on my husband first and put him on the right path. And with all my heart, I want to thank you, Abby. Keep up the good work. You may use my name.

Ready Gemini 9 For May 17 Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

Technicians bolt down the Gemini 9 spacecraft to the top of its Titan 2 booster rocket today, as astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan make certain their spaceship is ready to fly.

"At this point, we feel the flight plan, hardware and procedures are all in hand," Cernan said. "Now we can really sharpen ourselves, polishing the rough edges. We don't want a lot of changes at the last minute and neither does anyone else."

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the astronauts would spend today and Wednesday attending a spacecraft flight readiness review.

Thursday and Friday, Air Force Lt. Col. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Cernan will rehearse their flight plan inside a practice capsule at Cape Kennedy. Gemini 9 is due to fly May 17.

The space flight calls for a two-hour, 25-minute walk in space by Cernan, several rendezvous and docking exercises with an Agena target satellite, and firing the Agena's main engines while Gemini 9 is attached to it in space.

The entire mission is expected to last three days.

Technicians plan to spend the rest of this week checking electrical systems and radar communications.

A spokesman for the group said Furnas refused to meet their demands in connection with the Selective Service examination to be held on campus May 21, including one request that the exam be cancelled.

University officials were not immediately available for comment.

Mud Watchers At Crash Scene Back to Routine

By MARTIN ZUCKER

BERLIN (AP)—Eight Soviet military men are back at their regular jobs today after more than three weeks of mud watching in West Berlin.

The mud came from the bottom of Lake Stoenen where a Soviet jet fighter crashed on April 6. The crash killed the two crewmen and hammered wreckage into the lake's muddy bottom.

Was New Plane

The plane was a YAK28, a new all-weather fighter, which the NATO allies knew little about until the crash.

The lake is in the British sector of West Berlin and the British salvaged the wreckage. They restricted the Soviet team to observer status, watching from a bluff overlooking the lake.

The Russians watched a British crane scoop up mud and dump it into a barge. They watched British Army engineers rake the mud for wreckage of the plane.

The British watched the Russians. So did West Berlin policemen, strollers and newsmen.

In Two Shifts

After the two bodies and most of the wreckage were brought up in the first week, the Russian observers worked in two shifts of four men each. There were always Russians watching the lake.

They did not talk much with the British or Germans. But recently one of the Russians, a young noncommissioned officer, chatted with one of the West Berlin policemen on duty.

The mud watching ended Monday night after the British turned over the two jet engines to Soviet authorities in a boat-to-boat transfer. The salvage operation was declared completed.

New Space Innovations

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Astronauts on the upcoming Apollo moon projects can look forward to hot water with their meals, something unheard of in Mercury and Gemini crewmen's diets.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief of center medical programs of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said that the dried food will be reconstituted with hot water rather than the cold water used for previous meals.

Dr. Berry explained that hot food requires less energy to digest than cold food.

MAY'S DAZE OF DAYS

What is so rare as a day in June? It's a day in May that hasn't been appropriated as National This or That Day by some organization or other.

It is the same every month, but May particularly seems to have its share of special observances this year — some worthy, others little more than reflections of the gleams in the eyes of press agents.

May will only last for one month, as usual, but according to Spinrad's Day & Date Service, it will be:

National Home Improvement Month, Senior Citizens Month, National Radio Month, National Tavern Month, Car Care Month, American Bike Month, National Salad Month, White Bread Sales Month and something no more than 180 million Americans should fail to observe — New York Is a Great Place to Visit or Live Month.

There are only four and a half weeks, but they will be spread over:

National Family Week, Goodwill Week, Mental Health Week, National Music Week, American Comedy Week, Senior Comedians Week, National Correct Posture Week, Be Kind to Animals Week, National Cotton Week and Let's Go Fishing Week. The postmaster general this year has added Mailbox Improvement Week.

The daze of days include:

May Day, Law Day, Humane Sunday, World Comedy Day, National Comedy Day, May Fellowship Day, and National Mother-in-Law Day.

We confess to a certain lack of enthusiasm for this last one, but there's something about Let's Go Fishing Week that appeals to us.

In fact, it might not be a bad thing if its annual observance were made mandatory world-wide.

The idea would certainly gain a lot of support in the U. S. Congress about this time of year, anyway.

LATIN AMERICAN ISSUE

An intense light is focused on the Alliance for Progress by the mass resignation of the panel of economists established by its charter. This dramatic action is significant not so much because of the loss of wise counsel as because it draws attention to complaints about the Alliance, and particularly about the United States' dominant role in its activities.

The economists who resigned can be replaced, quite possibly with experts of equal stature. It would be a serious mistake, however, if this were done without searching consideration of the reasons given for their quitting.

Some observers think the economists left the alliance because of the panel's reduced importance. This is a superficial conclusion which tends to minimize the real causes of their dissatisfaction. Their charges of American dominance should be gone into with care. No matter how "right" we may be in our present course, if we follow it at the expense of Latin American feelings we risk seriously hurting the program.

LESS THAN CHAMPS

If Americans were the big spenders abroad that the government — the real spender — would have us believe, then this country's balance of payments deficit would indeed be imposing.

According to figures assembled by the United Nations Economic and Social Council, however, only 10 per cent of the money spent on travel by Americans is in international tourism.

This compares with 40 per cent for the Netherlands, 50 per cent for Argentina and nearly 80 per cent for Belgium.

When plotted against the population, the total overseas expenditures by U. S. citizens comes to only $11 a year per capita. The figure for West Germans is exactly double this, while Canadians and Swiss both average $29.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

A curious thing is happening in this country: the so-called New Left is tending, on certain issues that involve the spread of centralized political controls, to make common cause with the libertarians of a New Right. Both the New Leftists and the New Rightists are crusading against the increase of "bureaucratic solutions."

The first whiff I got of this was in a little magazine put out by the libertarian economist Murray Rothbard. Rothbard hates anything that smacks of Washington interference with the free market. But he also hates the Vietnamese War because of the unofficial but nonetheless very real controls that it is imposing. So he is welcoming the New Leftists who object, on supposed philosophical principle, to "Lyndon's bureaucracy." (I use the adjective "supposed" because I doubt that many of the New Leftists would actually oppose the spread of bureaucracy to provide for such new wrinkles as "kiddicare," which is the next crusade on the Lyndon Johnson docket.)

Murray Rothbard has high hopes of proselytizing for a far more voluntary system among the New Leftists. And, truth to tell, there are some instances of a real awakening on the Left about the issue that may be broadly defined as Statism. For example, a Yale sociologist named Robert M. Cook conducts a course called "Bureaucracy in Modern Society." Professor Cook is thinking of running for the Third Connecticut Congressional District against the incumbent, U. S. Democratic Representative Robert Giammo, and against what ever candidate the Republicans may choose. Cook is against Lyndon Johnson's—and Robert Giammo's—Vietnamese War policy. But he is also making a pitch to conservatives over what he calls "excessive centralization and bureaucratization in Washington." He plans to run for office as a candidate of the American Independent Movement, or AIM, which he says is a district-wide petitionary party.

Now to libertarians who hate Washington bureaucracy and feel uneasy about the Vietnamese War, Cook might seem strangely like a natural ally of old Hamilton Fish, a blown-in-the-bottle conservative who has never given up on his ancient 1939 isolationism. And I would not be surprised to see Murray Rothbard, a fellow academician, asking Cook to make a united front with the New Right that is against the war and critical of bureaucratic measures.

Of course, it all gets incredibly tangled. Rothbard can't like some of Cook's spending policy stand, which would add to bureaucracy in spite of Cook's general wariness. Both Rothbard and Cook are correct when they say the draft is an infringement of personal liberty that has no place in a purely voluntaristic society. If we had only taken a different tack at the beginning and sought to raise a professional volunteer army that was sufficiently well-paid to make it an effectively happy fighting force, Professor Rothbard and the rest of us wouldn't be in the mess we are now in. Having gone out to defeat the Communists by using compulsion on our young men, it would be like trying to turn the queen Elizabeth around in a mill pond to switch her presto! to voluntary recruiting. If we don't continue to use compulsion, the Communists might win—and in a year's time plunge us into a bigger and more dangerous war.

I'm sorry that I cannot be as personally "pure" about libertarian theory as Murray Rothbard when I see Communists out to cut our throats. On the other hand, I could wish that after the war something good is going to come out of the combined New Left and New Right animus against the spread of bureaucratic blights.

The Rothbards and the Cooks are worth watching because they are breaking up the cake of old ideological custom. Any liberal who can be saying, as Cook is saying, that "the liberal tendency to find solutions within a bureaucracy is dangerous," is a new breed of academic animal. And any libertarian conservative such as Murray Rothbard, a real disciple of old Ludwig von Mises and the rest of the Vienna School, must be kept alive and kicking until the war is over and we can once more resume the fight for freedom.

Bland Diet Recommended For Mucous Colitis Victims

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—There is a lot of phlegm in my stools and I have a slight but constant cramping in my abdomen. X-rays of my intestines failed to show anything wrong. Does this indicate that further tests should be made or do I have something that laxatives will control?

A—Without further tests I would say you have described the typical findings of mucous colitis. Laxatives would make it worse. There are many remedies for this condition but none of them will help you unless you adhere to a bland (no roughage) diet and arrange to eliminate emotional stresses.

Q—I have colitis and am taking an enema of one quart of water with two teaspoons of starch twice a day. Will this cure me?

A—No—it will probably make your colitis worse. An enema should be taken only if you have gone 48 hours without a bowel movement (72 hours following a loose stool) and then you should use only eight ounces of warm water with nothing in the water. Such an enema should be held for five minutes before letting it pass out.

Q—I have had colitis for three years. My doctor prescribed Azulfidine, Lomolot, cortizone and a milk-free diet. Must I take these drugs indefinitely? How long does it take to cure this condition?

A—Anyone who is taking Azulfidine should have a periodic blood examination. Lomolot should not be taken by anyone who has cirrhosis of the liver or who is taking barbiturates. Cortizone should not be taken for more than 10 days at a time with an interval of three or four weeks between courses. Colitis is aggravated by milk and milk products in some, but not all, victims.

Like all chronic conditions, cure may take a long time but it can be achieved. The severity of the treatment would depend on the duration of the disease and the skill of your physician.

Q—When I was in high school a doctor prescribed amphetamine to help me lose weight. Now I am addicted to this drug. What should I do?

A—This drug, marketed as Benzedrine, Dexedrine and Methedrine can be obtained legally only on a doctor's prescription. It is potentially dangerous and is definitely habit-forming when taken over a long period. Discontinuing the drug after the habit has been formed may require a short period of hospitalization.

yellow paving for island areas. The presumption is that a change of color would be taken in more quickly by drivers than a printed direction.

This idea has more than a little basis in experience. Our traffic signal system depends on the use of color. In the early days of the automobile, "stop" and "go" signs were commonly used to control traffic. Now red, green and amber lights convey the message more quickly and intelligibly.

Washington News

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A number of prominent U.S. educators have dropped a real bombshell into the stormy debate over how to get better schooling for Negroes.

Their still-secret conclusions, which are bound to find their way into major white-and-Negro civil rights channels, amount to a severe indictment of large elements of the public, of government, and of the school system for alleged indifference and hostility to stated policies of educational and racial equality.

The conclusions, made available privately on an anonymous basis, are these:

In both the North and the South, there is an unconcealed official effort to find absolutely minimum ways to satisfy desegregation requirements set forth in the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The widespread intent, say these educators, is to "resist the law of the land."

Even where state and local governments have tried to pursue policies aimed at equal educational opportunity, the funds made available have been so thin that their effect has been to underwrite "tokenism" in the desegregation of schools.

The Negroes' protest against inadequate schooling has a massive side effect—disclosing general public school deficiencies for both white and Negro children.

The educators argue that only in the better U.S. suburbs are schools wholly adequate. They believe that the average city child, regardless of race, receives a second-rate education. For whites and Negroes in the "inner city"—the slum-ridden core—schooling is described as third rate. Many rural schools fall in the latter category.

The educators believe that a great new infusion of federal money — $5 billion more per year — is needed as a beginning step toward improving educational quality and opportunity.

Under a suggested equalizing formula, they contend this would allow about 9 million youngsters, about a fifth of the U.S. public school total, to be raised to the "reasonably good" level where about $1,000 a year will be spent on each child's schooling. The very best schools are still above this level.

Vastly greater federal fund increases are rated necessary as later steps.

The educators further recommend a far tougher and more explicit insistence on workable desegregation programs as a condition for the receipt of federal funds.

Their belief is that the conditional provisions now set forth in the 1964 civil rights law are not being effectively used.

To wipe out widely prevailing attitudes of disinterest and hostility toward established policies of equal educational opportunity, they want a strong show of vocal, active leadership from the President, the 50 governors, mayors and countless other state and local officials.

They want this effort to include correction of present "twisted and distorted images" of Negro and other minority groups.

Running against a trend which has seen elimination of racial identification in many official government tabulations, the educators propose that Congress and the administration adopt a frank equality approach to the quality problem.

They contend that racial identification, kept confidential in official reports, will enable the authorities to monitor possible discriminatory practices and help bring about equality of opportunity.

Revealing Espionage Details Could Be Harmful to Nation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Newspaper articles were published recently purporting to reveal details of the system of espionage employed by the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency. However well intended, if the purpose was to start a crusade in Congress to restrict intelligence operations, this cannot but in the long run damage the interests of the American people.

The Central Intelligence Agency is not authorized to carry on any espionage within this country or to handle internal-security problems, as all of these are responsibilities of the FBI. The CIA confines its operations to foreign countries, where, of course, it is subject to local laws as well as the counter-measures of agents of other governments which are hostile to the United States.

Seen as Dishonorable

Espionage is in many ways dishonorable. To take a simple but far-reaching illustration, the secret acquisition of messages and the breaking of a Japanese code by agents of the United States in the years just prior to World War II enabled our armed forces to know in advance details of ship movements. This later played a vital role in naval engagements in the Pacific, particularly in the crucial Battle of Midway, in which the Japanese fleet was defeated.

The "cold war" is not a "hot war" in its risks to the safety of the American people. Information about the existence of missile bases in Cuba may have been acquired too slowly, but what was learned did have the effect of enabling the United States to protect itself in time.

The recently published articles were the result of an honest and conscientious reporting effort, though errors did creep in, especially in the inference conveyed that certain committees of Congress are "controlled" by the CIA. The purpose of the articles, it was asserted, was to fix responsibility and also to tighten control of the CIA by Congress.

But for many years two committees in the House of Representatives and two in the Senate have been taken into the confidence of the CIA and have known about its methods of operation. The members could ask any questions they wished. If these committees, composed of loyal Americans, had felt that the CIA was doing something wrong, they could have long ago transmitted to the President their objections or could have demanded open inquiries and investigations.

Secrecy Is Vital

One of the fundamental rules of intelligence work is to let as few people as possible know what is going on, so as to guard against leaks and the danger of infiltration or unwitting disclosure of secrets by persons who are not alert to the tricks used by agents of other countries. There would be risks, for instance, in opening up intelligence operations to the staffs of our embassies abroad or to a lot of officials in the state department. Some might not withhold from foreign diplomats at social gatherings bits of information considered irrelevant but which might have significant value by the other side. The Secretary of State is, of course, kept informed.

Mistakes naturally are made in espionage and other intelligence activities. So also are errors of judgment committed by generals in the heat of battle. Inefficiencies of the CIA can be discovered and remedied by responsible officials. The president of the United States is, after all, the commander-in-chief of the military forces and the boss of the intelligence system. He is the final judge as to whether a step that has been taken was or was not desirable. Corrective measures can always be applied.

Undoubtedly the Communists will have a field day when they read some of the published articles about the internal workings of the CIA. It is a tragic mistake to furnish them with this information.

The press of the United States has in two world wars maintained a "voluntary censorship." The same system ought to prevail during a "cold war," especially when it comes to deciding whether to disclose in print the secret methods used by the American government in trying to deal with enemy intrigue inside foreign countries. For, whether carried on in Latin America, Europe, Africa or Asia, the plotting is against the United States.

Yale Gets Ford Grant

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The Ford Foundation will grant another $6.3 million to a program of international studies at Yale University. President Kingman Brewster Jr. announced. The award supplements a $3-million grant made by the foundation in 1961 to launch a 10-year plan of graduate training and research.

Big Decrease

In 1914 there were about 140 foreign-language daily newspapers (one-third were German) in the United States when the great wave of immigration from Europe was still under way. Today there are about 76. Of the 35 languages represented, only four are German.

Bottled or canned foods should be stored in a cool place as high storage temperatures lead to more rapid loss of vitamin content. Also the flavor deteriorates. Glass containers should be stored in the dark to avoid fading of the food colors. Acid foods may be used cold straight from the can. Heat nonacid foods thoroughly before eating. It takes 20 minutes of boiling to destroy the botulism toxin.

Lauds Wagner

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Mayor Robert F. Wagner was saluted by current Mayor John V. Lindsay Monday night, as one of the "noble soldiers" who fought for a better New York.

The tribute was made at the New York Urban League annual dinner at the Americana Hotel when Wagner, A. Philip Randolph, president of the International Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, and Robert Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corp. of America, were given the league's highest award, the Frederick Douglas medals.

Lindsay said of the trio, "I salute the noble soldiers in the cause of a better city that my predecessor, Mayor Wagner, and Mr. Randolph and Mr. Sarnoff have worked to achieve."

Citations were given to New York Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Jacob K. Javits for their efforts on behalf of civil rights.

John Adams was the only President of the U. S. whose son also became President.

DISCUSS THIRD LANE ORDER—A Thruway ruling which prohibits trucks and buses from using the outside left lane on three-lane sections of the super highway was discussed at a recent meeting in Albany. The parley included (l-r) Glen P. Paye, safety supervisor of the Hudson Transit Lines, Inc.; Captain Carl Wichmann, assistant commander of the Thruway State Police; George Leitz of Local 225, Transport Workers Union; Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson; John Meyer of Local 225, Transport Workers Union, and J. C. Coulton, deputy president of Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Wilson Dismayed At Rejection of Thruway Ruling

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County stated today that he was extremely disappointed at the recent action by the State Thruway Authority in turning down a request by area bus companies and bus drivers unions to change a Thruway order concerning the operation of buses on certain sections of the State's Super-Highway.

For more than a year all buses and trucks using the Thruway have been prohibited from using the extreme left lane in all three lane sections of the highway. All of the bus companies using the Thruway including Adirondack Trailways, Greyhound, Pine Hill and the Short Line as well as Local 225 of the Transport Workers Union and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, have protested this order on the grounds that it poses a safety hazard in the operation of the buses as well as for the general driving public.

Last year, and again this spring, meetings were arranged by Assemblyman Wilson between representatives of the Thruway Authority, the various bus companies involved and the Unions representing the bus drivers. At these meetings several objections to the Thruway order were brought forth by the bus companies and the unions, and many examples were cited concerning the unsafe conditions which were being caused by the ruling. Letters from individual citizens were presented to the Thruway Authority stating how several near accidents had occurred because the buses were not allowed to operate in the left-hand passing lane. Following the second meeting this spring, Assemblyman Wilson had received word that the order would be reconsidered by the Thruway Authority and he was hopeful the order would be rescinded.

Assemblyman Wilson said today, that he has just received word that the Thruway Authority had met, and despite objections from some members of the Authority and the Thruway State Police detail, the majority of the Authority members have voted to leave the existing order in force relating to buses and trucks on the super-highway. Assemblyman Wilson said that he was extremely disappointed by this action of the Thruway Authority but said that he would continue to press for the removal of the order as he was firmly convinced that the restrictions imposed on buses does present a definite safety hazard.

Bankers Urge U. S. Cut In Domestic Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President of the American Bankers Association has countered a White House plea for price restraint with an appeal to the federal government to cut its domestic spending.

Archie K. Davis of Winston-Salem, N.C., head of the bankers' group, won a warm round of applause when he made his suggestion Monday at the national convention of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

"It is up to the federal government under the leadership of the President to curtail its own spending plans if the basic thrust of the inflation is to be broken," Davis said.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was applauded less enthusiastically when he warned that climbing prices and profits can generate "a speculative boom that will bring on a bust."

He called for sterner restraint, including price cuts where possible.

The problem of inflation, and the possibility that it might compel President Johnson to seek an increase in individual and corporation income taxes, dominated program events at the 54th annual meeting attended by 4,500 chamber delegates and guests.

News Union Heads Plan City Hall Talks on Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of 10 newspaper unions journey to City Hall today to explore with Mayor John V. Lindsay ways of ending a nine-day strike against the yet-to-be-published papers of the World Journal Tribune Corp.

The mayor, who summoned them, was expected to try to get the unionists to warm up to his idea for a fact-finding panel.

Panel Proposed

Lindsay has proposed that a three-member panel—one member each appointed by the unions, the publishers and himself—review the dispute and recommend a settlement.

The World Journal Tribune, created by the merger of three dailies here, accepted the mayor's proposal. The unions have been cool to it.

Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the only union striking the World Journal Tribune—the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild—expressed doubt any gains would result from the City Hall session.

He asserted that "the fact-finding kick" was a "joint pro-

Irvin C. Scarbeck, 45, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was released from the federal penitentiary here Monday. He will remain under parole supervision until February, 1973.

"Well, it's sure good to be out," Scarbeck said.

Scarbeck was met by an attorney, Samuel Klein of Washington. Also present was Klein's son, Joel.

No-Trump Bid Lost Match

By JACOBY & SON

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A recent team match was decided by today's hand. At the table the North-South pair reached three no-trump. West was unkind enough to make his normal lead of a heart and the defense had the first five tricks.

The bidding in the box took place at the other table. North-Couth were using limit raises and North gave a limit raise in preference to showing his diamond suit. South took command and bid the slam after checking for aces.

East won the opening heart lead with his ace and led a trump. South drew trumps with two leads and was then able to spread his hand because he had two trumps in dummy to take care of his second heart and fourth spade.

How would South have played the hand against a 3-1 trump break?

He would have played the third round of trumps and then gone after diamonds. Since diamonds broke 4-2 he would have been able to set up dummy's fifth diamond for a discard of one spade and dummy's last trump would have ruffed the second heart.

The club slam was certainly a good one to bid and limit raises made it easy to get there but we feel strongly that the other North-South pair should have avoided the three no-trump trap. Their actual bidding with no interference by East and West proceeded via one-club, one diamond two spades, three clubs, three no-trump, pass.

We feel that South should have bid four clubs rather than three no-trump. He had nothing that looked like a heart stopper. This four club bid would surely have produced a successful game contract and might well have led to the same club slam.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

Ap Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Opposition to a tax increase now is based on a growing suspicion that the big business boom is at or nearing its peak. This view holds that the unusual upsurge of recent months is about over.

Ahead, without any further government intervention, would be either a definite slowdown in business expansion or a leveling off on a high plateau.

Could Cause Downturn

A tax increase thus wouldn't be needed to curb a runaway boom. It might even cause a downturn in the economy. Some private as well as government economists see government fiscal and monetary steps already taken as likely to moderate the business pace in the latter part of 1966.

A tax increase would be needed, they hold, only if the war in Viet Nam should expand or suddenly prove more costly.

The view that the economy will moderate its pace isn't universally held. Many corporate executives are telling stockholder meetings these days that still greater activity for their company lies ahead. Prices continue to rise, here and there. Wage demands tend to be scaled upward.

Most of the economic indicators still point upward. And, with few exceptions, most of the current statistics stress new highs rather than any slowdown.

Based on these figures, a view that the fast growth of recent months is due to continue—and thus offer an inflationary threat—is easy to sustain.

Then on what is the suspicion of a moderating pace ahead based?

Room Fast Disappearing

One point being increasingly made is that the economy grew so fast because it had room in which to grow. This room is fast disappearing. Many industries are now operating near maximum capacity. In some skilled trades there is a labor shortage. This puts a natural curb on growing so fast much longer.

It also, of course, increases pressure for higher prices and wages.

Credit also is becoming tighter and borrowing costs higher. Lenders are beginning to frown on marginal risks. And some expansion plans and spending schemes suffer.

Government economists stress the steps already taken in Washington to slow the boom. They contend that the effect of these is yet to be felt and judged.

Paychecks to Shrink

One curb is starting this month with the shrinking of paychecks through withholdings to meet income taxes. Corporate tax collections also are to be speeded. This will leave less cash in the company till the rest of this year for the financing of more activity.

And the administration puts great hope in the effectiveness of its campaign of persuasion. The president, and various department heads, are urging businessmen to hold down prices and to trim or postpone expansion plans. They are urging consumers to spend more carefully—and meat markets report that housewives are giving the lower-priced items a bigger play now.

Films Starring Negroes Make Big Money in Dixie

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I'll never play in the South."

Throughout most of Hollywood's history, that comment has been offered for films concerning Negro themes and featuring Negro actors. Indeed, the fear of losing the Southern market, which has traditionally been a good one for films, has deterred many producers from undertaking projects with interracial overtones.

The situation is different now. Film companies report that films with Negroes can earn as much and in some cases more in the South than elsewhere in the nation.

Poitier Movie a Hit Example: "A Patch of Blue," in which Negro Sidney Poitier befriends a blind white girl, Elizabeth Hartman, who falls in love with him.

"The picture was the second biggest grosser at the Loew's Theater in Atlanta — second only to a rerelease of 'Gone With the Wind,'" reports an MGM man recently returned from opening "A Patch of Blue" in the South.

"Our film exchange says there has been no resistance to booking the movie in Georgia, Alabama and other Southern states. Only one woman theater owner in New Orleans refused to play it."

Oddly, "A Patch of Blue" was given an art-house opening in New York and did disappointing business. But on the basis of excellent returns from the South, MGM is predicting a gross of $4 million-$5 million.

Only one concession was made to Southern audiences: the kiss between Poitier and Miss Hartman was cut.

Southerners Gasp

The MGM man explained: "We showed the kiss in a test screening with Southerners, and there was such a gasp that it was decided to eliminate the kiss. It wasn't important to the story, anyway."

Another film starring Poitier, "A Slender Thread," has also been booked extensively through the South.

"We encountered no difficulty at all with Southern theaters," says Paramount studio head Howard Koch. "And the returns from the South on 'A Slender Thread' have been proportionate to the rest of the country."

Poitier seems to have the magic name to break down Southern prejudices against playing films with Negroes.

Lauds L. I. Groups For Smasher Efforts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller praised today Long Island labor and business groups for joining in efforts to have the Atomic Energy Commission select Brookhaven as the site for a proposed atom-smasher.

In telegrams to Carlyle J. Jones, president of the area Association of Commerce and Industry, and Toby Coletti, president of the Long Island Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, Rockefeller added:

"You may be assured of the complete effort of the state to have Brookhaven designated as the site of the proposed accelerator."

Artists Appeal To Governor to Save Met House

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Conductor Leopold Stokowski, singer Licia Albanese and several other musical and dance artists appealed today to Gov. Rockefeller and the Legislature to save the Metropolitan Opera House from destruction.

"Carnegie Hall was saved a few years ago," Stokowski said at a news conference at the Capitol. "Why not save the old Met?"

The historic opera center is scheduled to go under the wrecking ball next week to clear space for construction of an office building.

The Citizens Committee for Preservation of the Metropolitan Opera sought the help of the governor and the lawmakers in obtaining what it called a "stay of execution" for the building.

Committee members came here to confer with Rockefeller and legislative leaders on the matter.

Hope Dems Yield

Rockefeller, GOP senators and State AFL-CIO President Raymond Corbett agreed privately that the second stage could be implemented Jan. 1, instead of April 1. Travia said he was willing, if organized labor consented.

In the meantime, however, business organizations advised the governor and Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges that they would prefer to handle the increase in one step. It would be too costly, they said, to revise their payrolls twice within the space of a few months.

Brydges, Rockefeller and the Assembly's GOP Minority Leader, Perry B. Duryea, planned to discuss the matter at a conference this morning. Indications were they would agree on an increase to $1.50, effective Jan. 1.

Notes Deadline Travia told The Associated Press that was "the latest date" to which he would consent.

On another front, the Assembly was set to vote on a pair of ethics bills sponsored by Assemblyman Daniel M. Kelly, D-Manhattan.

One would bar state legislators and their employees from representing clients before most state agencies. The other would set up a seven-member state commission to give advisory opinions on possible violations of the ethics code.

When the main bill was brought before the Assembly last Monday, opponents moved successfully to strengthen it by inserting an amendment prohibiting lawmakers from accepting paid appointments from the Surrogates' Court.

The strategy behind the move was to make the bill even less acceptable to the Senate, which intends to bury the bill in committee.

Others in Prospect

More amendments were in prospect today. They would bar legislators from appearing before any state agency whatsoever.

In sending his air-pollution bill to the Legislature, Rockefeller asserted Monday that the problem created by urban soot and smog presented a "hazard to health and life itself."

Among other things, the measure would:

- Permit industries that install anti-pollution devices to take state income - tax deductions for the cost in one year, instead of having to spread them over a period of several years.

- Authorize communities of the state to exempt such facilities from local real - property taxes.

- Allow the state to pay the full cost of surveys to provide for effective disposal of such solid wastes as trash and garbage.

- Require that all motor vehicles be equipped with anti-pollution devices, beginning with 1968 models.

reported lost in action over North Viet Nam.

North Viet Nam claimed three American planes were shot down Monday.

The U. S. command announced earlier that the North Vietnamese shot down another Navy Skyhawk Monday and an Air Force A1E Skyraider late Sunday, but both pilots were rescued.

Meanwhile Premier Nguyen Cao Ky indicated that elections promised to meet Buddhist demands for a civilian government may be postponed.

Hopeful by October

Arriving at the air base at Quang Ngai, Ky told a reporter "we will try to hold the elections by October."

Under Buddhist pressure, he had promised general elections in three to five months, which would have meant September at the latest.

Ky visited an area where entire regiments of Viet Cong have been operating.

In the fortified village of Duc Phung, Ky distributed American blankets and cooking oil to silent, expressionless women.

Several hundred coolies were digging a giant ditch around the village, filling it with bamboo spikes as a protection against guerrilla infiltrations at night.

American and Vietnamese officers said large units of guerrillas were still operating almost within immediate vicinity.

As they spoke, there was a sound of distant explosions and two planes flew low over the jungle.

Later, Ky visited the giant Chu Lai base of the U.S. 1st Marine Division where he paid tribute to Americans wounded in combat.

Convict Highland

France Steward, testified against the defendants. He said he made between 15 and 20 round trips carrying nearly $750,000 cash to France and returning with 40 to 90 pounds of heroin.

He identified Nuccio as the man who turned over to him money ranging from $20,000 to $70,000. Henrypierre said he turned the money over to Henri La Porterie in France for heroin.

Await Sentencing

He is awaiting sentencing after pleading guilty to the smuggling conspiracy.

The other three men face sentencing June 10. Maximum penalties are from five to 20 years in prison. Nuccio remains free in $75,000 bail and the other two in $25,000 bail each.

cord, N.H., predicted U.S. defeat in Asia because of President Johnson's "apparent resignation to a long war in Viet Nam."

Nixon also predicted the Viet Nam war would be a major 1966 election issue because of the split in the Democratic party over Vietnamese policy and the administration's "shortage of leadership" in foreign affairs.

Name Rondout Youth, Delegate For Boys State

Martin E. Lovinger, a junior at Rondout Valley High School, is the first to be selected as a member of the Ulster County contingent who will attend the 1966 American Legion Boys State.

In addition to Lovinger, there will be 10 more juniors from Ulster County high schools in the group. The boys will be all be sponsored by the various Ulster County Legion Posts. Lovinger is sponsored by Rosendale-Tillson Post, 1219.

This is the first time that Rosendale-Tillson Post has sponsored a boy to Boys State.

This year's Boys State will be held at State University of New York, Agricultural and Mechanical College at Morrisville. Boys State will be held from June 26 to July 2. The facilities of this college are ideal for the accomplishment of the aims of Boys State. It is located on the Cherry Valley Turnpike, Route 20, approximately 40 miles from Ulster and Syracuse.

As Morrisville College is part of the great expanding University of New York, it is particularly designed to train young men for responsible citizenship and to equip them to fulfill the obligations of leadership and citizenship.

It is fitting that 1966 Boys State will be held at this great institution. The dining hall, which is under the direction of the Director of Food Services Administration will serve delicious and nutritious food. A gymnasium, tennis courts, playgrounds and athletic field furnish space to conduct a program of wholesome recreation.

The facilities at Morrisville, are far from finished and the expansion is proceeding rapidly. A total of 1,037 boys will be at Boys State this year but is expected with the completion of several more buildings in the next year, another four to five hundred boys will be able to attend. This is a big factor for there are many Legion Posts in the state, who because of lack of facilities have been unable to send boys.

It is expected that within the next year or two, there may be as many as 2,000 boys attending Empire Boys State. Colgate University, where Boys State has been held for many years, was unable to accommodate the sessions this year because of federal education commitments. However, Morrisville, like Hamilton, is very much in the center of New York State, which makes for easy access from all parts of the state. Morrisville is about 10 miles north of Hamilton.

To Build Power Spur

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Niagara Mohawk power Corp. announced today it would build a 40-mile-long, 345,000-volt interconnection between its transmission system and Massachusetts.

The line will run from Albany to the state line near Pittsfield, Mass. From that point, the Western Massachusetts Electric Co. will build a 50-mile line to Northfield Mountain, where it plans a hydro-electric development that will be the largest in New England. Niagara Mohawk's stockholders were told at their annual meeting.

Earle J. Machold, Niagara Mohawk president, said the interconnection was scheduled for completion by 1970.

"Because Niagara Mohawk's extensive transmission system and that of Western Massachusetts Electric are interconnected with neighboring utilities, this new extra-high-voltage link between New York and New England will increase the availability of power throughout the entire region," Machold told the stockholders.

LBJ Still Hopeful

Receive Warrant For Return of Murder Suspect

District Attorney Joseph P. Torracca today received a "Presidential Warrant," signed by President Lyndon B. Johnson, which authorized local officials to travel to Madras, India, and return Raymond G. Rickard, Brooklyn seaman, to Ulster County to stand trial on a first degree murder charge.

Rickard is charged by the Grand Jury in the death of 2 1/2-year-old Victor Rossiello between November 16 and 19, at a Lake Katrine trailer camp and tossing the body into Hudson River from the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge. The boy, son of Mary Elizabeth Rossiello, was not missed until his 10-year-old brother, Edward Rossiello, disclosed the death of his brother to a Family Court in Brooklyn last December. Since then an investigation has been underway.

The mother was indicted for perjury in connection with testimony given before a grand jury investigating the death. She is now being held in Ulster County jail as a material witness. Bail has been fixed at $5,000.

Rickard, after a hearing at Madras, India, was held for extradition to the United States. Assistant District Attorney Robert MacKinnon and Senior Investigator Michael Lisman of the New York State Police, will leave this evening by TWA plan for Rome and Bombay, where they will take a local plane to Madras, India, and pick up Rickard for return to Ulster County.

Denies Veto Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay Tuesday denied reports that he would be willing to give up the veto power he sought for himself in his proposed transit unification plan.

The report initially came from Albany last Wednesday, with an unidentified high city official quoted as saying the mayor was willing to amend his bill that would place the Transit Authority and the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority under a single transit administrator responsible only to Lindsay.

Lindsay said today that his Albany representatives have been continuing discussions with the legislative leadership "to determine what areas of accommodation can be reached," adding: "They have not as yet discussed the removal of the mayor's veto power."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

A roving reporter directs questions to people on the street and publishes their answers in an opinion poll in a Mid-West newspaper. He recently asked ten people, "Who is the greatest woman who ever lived?" The answers varied of course. One person chose Joan of Arc. Another chose Helen Keller. Another person chose Susan B. Anthony for her work in the emancipation of women. Madam Curie was chosen by another person. One young fellow chose Cleopatra! Two people selected Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy. Three people selected Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. Strangely enough, not one of the ten people mentioned the person, who in our opinion, should have been selected instantly. Who is she?

This woman dedicates her life to the happiness of her family. She suffers most, dreams the most, sacrifices the most. She presides in her sphere of life like a goddess and she teaches the virtues of honesty, cleanliness of body and mind, work and faith in God by her example and counsel. In all these things, she is constant, dependable and unchangeable. She is seen everywhere, on your street and ours. Who is she? She is God's gift to mankind. . . MOTHER!

It must be known then, that from the creation of Adam to the present day, no man... ever saw or inquired into so many and such great things as Marco Polo.

—The Book of Ser Marco Polo

In the year 1295, three ragged and bearded men, barely able to speak their native tongue, arrived in Venice. They were the brothers Maffeo and Nicolo Polo and the latter's son Marco, home after an absence of 24 years and rich both with jewels and marvelous tales about the distant land called Cathay.

Later, while a prisoner during the war between Venice and Genoa, Marco dictated the story of his adventures, which began when he was a boy of 17, to give the world the most famous travel book of all time. Ironically, many of the facts he related—not only about China but the regions of the Middle East, Siberia and the East Indies—were disbelieved. Urged on his deathbed to admit that he had made it all up, the man who had had the unprecedented honor of serving as governor of a Chinese city, replied, "I have not told half of what I saw." And not for centuries did other Europeans confirm Marco Polo's words.

In the 13th century, all but the peripheries of the Euro-Asian continent succumbed to the Mongol explosion. Nominal ruler of this vast empire, the greatest the world had yet known, was Kublai Khan, grandson of Genghis.

The Polos were only three of innumerable foreigners drawn to the khan's capital of Cambaluc, near modern Peking. Their admiration for the Mongols was not shared by the conquered Chinese, however.

Marco, who traveled extensively throughout the realm as an envoy of the khan, noted, along with such wonders as paper money and a rapid courier system of "pony express" riders, this hostility of the Chinese. Confucian scholars, barred from the government, took to writing music dramas and novels.

Kublai launched a series of unsuccessful campaigns against Burma, Java and Viet Nam. (The latter had driven out the Chinese in 938, after 1,000 years of rule, and were to fight them again in the 15th century.)

These wars, plus two disastrous attempts to invade Japan, caused inflation and soaring taxes, adding to the unrest in China.

In the middle of the 14th century, popular uprisings broke out. By 1368, the greatest of the rebel leaders, one Chu Yuan-chang, an orphan and former beggar, drove out the last alien emperor and founded a dynasty which he called Ming, or "Glorious." China was Chinese again.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

We happened to have an old wheelbarrow standing around, and last spring my husband sowed lettuce seed in it.

In a few weeks we had lovely lettuce.

We wheeled it wherever we wanted it—put it by the evergreen trees for shade in the afternoon if the sun got too hot, or when we wanted to pick some, just wheeled it around to the back porch.

It would be a cute idea if the ladies would paint a wheelbarrow a bright color. It would be decorative as well as useful.

Mrs. E. Deaner

Well, what do you know? A portable lettuce bed!

This would also be a wonderful idea for those who would like to plant just a few green onions, radishes.

A wheelbarrow full of thanks to you for the idea.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I am cooking, I always keep one or two paper towels lying nearby to open cabinet doors and handle different objects. If my hands are all sticky and messy, it helps keep the doors and handles cleaner, and saves a lot of time, because I don't have to stop and wash and dry my hands.

R. M. C.

Dear Heloise:

We live in an apartment that has a horrible soap tray permanently attached to the tile wall above the wash basin.

I use a plastic soap-saver, but it won't stay in the tray. Keeps falling off. Can you help us?

"Touch-of-Home"

I'm glad you signed your letter that way, shug. It took me back home again because my mother had this very same problem, and do you know what she did? She took a rubber band and placed it around the soap tray and over the plastic gadget!

The points on the plastic soap saver keep the rubber band from slipping. It hardly shows at all. Now, wasn't that great?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When children want to dump out a box or basket of toys, I put an old cover, sheet or spread out on the floor, and the toys go on that.

When they are through, pick up the cover by the corners and most of the toys can be dumped right back in the box.

Saves Mom picking up. G. Z.

Dear Heloise:

Before painting, I always put a pair of old socks over my shoes. They protect my shoes as well as making it easy to wipe up small paint splatters on the floor—with my feet!

Darlene

Dear Heloise:

I have arthritis so I use a gadget or tongs that most people use to take hot potatoes from the oven.

I have one at my sewing machine to pick up spools of thread and material that fall, as it's hard for me to pick up things. I also use it to take clothes from my washer and dryer.

Mrs. J. T. Wild

Dear Heloise:

You know how elusive a piece of elastic can be once it slips into the casing?

The next time this happens, get out your carpet or crochet hook, insert it in the casing and latch onto that elastic to pull it out.

Works wonderfully

Mrs. C. L. Casey

Dear Heloise:

After doing my laundry at a laundromat, I placed the basket on the front seat while driving home.

I had to make a sudden stop, and all my nice clean laundry fell down.

So I took the safety strap and put it around the basket the same as I buckle up myself—and I don't have to worry any more about it falling over.

Voting Plan Delayed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A weighted voting plan for the Erie County Board of Supervisors, scheduled to take effect Wednesday, has been postponed because it did not have a judge's prior approval.

The plan was set up by county leaders in February after the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court ordered a trial to determine if the board should be reapportioned.

Justice Harold P. Kelly of State Supreme Court held Monday that the appellate court's

March 31 order required that any temporary or permanent plan of reapportionment had to be submitted to the trial court presided over by him before it could be enacted.

He suspended enactment of the plan until further notice.

Aldrich Urges Local Initiative In Marist Talk

Alexander Aldrich, Republican candidate for Congress in the 28th District, Monday night told students at Marist College in Poughkeepsie here that "we must encourage local initiative in our approach to local problems if government is to be the servant and not the master of the people."

Aldrich said "there is nothing more cold and unresponsive to the individual human needs and dignity than a distant bureaucracy without direct responsibility to the people."

Speaking before the Marist College Young Republican Club, the 38 year old attorney, who has served as a state and municipal government official for 10 years clearly defined his position on the relationship between federal, state, and local governments.

While there are some problems of a magnitude beyond the resources of local or state government, Aldrich noted, the role of the federal government when it enters a situation should be that of a partner with state and local government agencies.

All too often since 1960, Aldrich pointed out, we have seen the federal government come into a problem area as a competitor with state and local agencies, and instead of pooling its resources to achieve a faster and more effective solution, waste finances and trained people in duplicating services already established.

"The answer to every problem that we have in the Mid-Hudson Valley is not the creation of another expensive federal program, as the incumbent congressman would have us believe," Aldrich said, "but a concerted effort by our communities to pool their experiences, talents, and energies to plan an effective program at the local level with state and federal assistance if necessary."

Medicare to . . .

Gov. Rockefeller contended, to meet a federal stipulation that only one state agency exercise ultimate control in carrying out the program.

The intent of the plan is to provide help for those who cannot pay their medical bills from their own resources.

It will be up to the Welfare Department to judge whether an individual is "medically indigent" and eligible for assistance. To do this, the department will apply a so-called "means test."

If the department finds that a person has an income below a level the department deems adequate to permit him to meet his medical bills, the applicant will be given an identification card. The card will entitle the needy person to medicare, in the same manner as a private medical-benefits plan such as Blue Cross.

The Welfare Department will determine whether the government should make full or partial payment to cover the medical expenses.

Persons already receiving public assistance automatically would be eligible.

The Welfare Department has established an eligibility floor of $6,000 in net income. This means that a family of four will be eligible if its net income is above $6,000 a year and if its cash savings do not exceed $3,000.

Such a family could remain eligible if it had life insurance with a face value of no more than $1,000 per person, or resources of $1,000 per person to be used to cover the cost of funerals and burials.

These limitations would be waived, however, in case of a "catastrophic illness."

The law empowers the Welfare Department to handle such cases outside the normal limitations.

Welfare Department specialists are preparing tables—based on the figures for a family of four—to be applied for single persons and families of varying size.

How would you obtain medicare for the medically needy? A person seeking such help would apply personally, by mail or through a friend or relative, to the public welfare director of the city, town or county in which he lives.

When an application is presented, the director of the local welfare department will investigate the status of the person seeking the help.

Any person whose application is refused by a local welfare department may appeal to the State Social Welfare Department.

The department will investigate periodically to determine whether a person receiving medicare should continue to be eligible.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a sharp loss early this afternoon amid disappointment over dividend action by General Motors and caution prompted by statements from official Washington.

General Motors declined nearly 2 points following declaration of dividends by GM late Monday which brings the six-month payout of the giant automaker to 5 cents a share less than the $2.25 a share paid in the first half of 1965.

A speech by Gardner Ackley, the President's chief economic adviser, in which he suggested that profits may be running too high for the good of the economy, also gave Wall Street something to think about.

Stocks retreated on a broad front, losses running from fractions to 3 or 4 points for some of the biggest gainers of recent months.

Rails, steels, motors, aerospace issues, electronics, airlines, chemicals and tobaccos were among the losers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 2.2 at 340.0 with industrials off 3.3, rails off 1.7 and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 6.45 at 925.50.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange in active trading.

Call On Parents

The blaze got even hotter when other dentists in the group charged that the action by the board was "an unwarranted backward step in an area recognized as essential by public health authorities." Realizing that the budget goes to the polls for approval or disapproval Wednesday, with the dental hygienist-teacher written out, they pledged to continue the fight whichever way the voting goes. They point out that monies are available in the budget which remain unallocated and which could be used to reinstate the program. Whether the budget passes or not Wednesday, dissenting dentists of the area will continue pressuring the board on the matter.

At stake, they say, is the question of the whole program itself—not just the one job involved. While agreeing that Sara Kettel, Ontario's dental hygienist-teacher for the past five or six years, is a conscientious worker with a fine record, they are more concerned with the fact that there will now be no contact between underprivileged children who need dental work, the dentists and the parents of the children.

Call On Parents

Maintaining that the Board "cannot set itself up as having superior knowledge in this area," the eight area dentists have addressed the following statement to the parents of children in the Ontario School District: "The School Board has recently eliminated the wholly essential position, for your children's health, of school dental hygienist-teacher. This regrettable action is a backward step in the preservation of your children's health."

"For the past 50 years, health authorities throughout the nation have approved the school hygienist's role as an essential overpaid; said the job actually required only part-time hours. The dissenting dentists say she would be paid almost as much if she went into private practice and would be entitled to automatic increases either way. They flatly charged false economy on the part of the Board.

Said Woodstock dentist, Dr. Mark Vlock, spokesman for the opposition, "If it is a question of money, the Federal Head Start Program has money for this purpose. We have been told that the Kingston School System has applied for such monies to help enlarge its dental hygiene program."

Adding fuel to the fire, Dr. Lee Hunt, administrator of the Columbia University Dental School and a resident of Olive said the examination of 13-year-olds in the area shows "distressing evidence of dental problems and, even now, many youngsters in this age group are in need of partial dentures."

McKinney Pleads Guilty, Given 2 1/2 to 5 Years

Alan Rufus McKinney, Poughkeepsie, who pleaded guilty to escaping from the custody of a sheriff's guard last fall, was sentenced by County Judge Raymond J. Mino today to a term of from 2 1/2 to 5 years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison.

McKinney had been taken by a deputy sheriff to a Wall Street dentist's office where he seized the officer's gun, threatened the officer and ran from the building. He was later picked up back of the Governor Clinton Hotel after spending the night in that vicinity.

At the time McKinney was being held in the county jail on a charge of illegal possession of a firearm, McKinney has had several brushes with the law and was allegedly involved in a robbery in Dutchess County just prior to his being picked up for illegal possession of a gun. While in Ulster County jail he was taken to Brooklyn to face a robbery charge. He was found innocent of that charge and was returned to Ulster County to face the escape charge. Edward T. Feeney appeared for defendant by assignment. The guilty plea covered both the escape and illegal possession of a gun charges.

Court recessed until 10 a. m. Wednesday.

Royalties to Barber

BAYONNE, France (AP)—The $200,000-a-year in royalties which the estate of the composer Maurice Ravel collects were awarded today to a Bayonne barber whose mother nursed the composer's brother.

The court upheld the claim of Jean Taverne, the barber, that Ravel's brother Edouard was the composer's heir and Edouard had left his estate to Taverne's mother when he died.

part of the health program. Every dentist practicing in this area has affixed his signature below to express his disappointment and disapproval of the School Board's ill-advised action in eliminating this important phase of oral health.

"With Your help our School Board can be corrected in this action against your children's health. We therefore urge you to sign a petition to restore this protective service so essential to the health of your child."

nomination for governor. The 12 candidates made it virtually certain there would have to be a runoff on May 24. Raymond Gary, who was governor in 1954-1958, was expected to lead the field but there was no agreement as to who might be the other candidate in a runoff.

Three who were regarded as the stronger ones were Preston J. Moore, Oklahoma City attorney and former national commander of the American Legion; David Hall, Tulsa County attorney; and Cleeta John Rogers, an Oklahoma City attorney and state senator.

Three Seat Nomination

There are three candidates for the Republican nomination for governor—Dewey Bartlett, a Tulsa oil man; John N. Happy Camp, Waukomis banker, and Bruno H. Miller, Oklahoma City, Republican Gov. Henry Bellmon is not eligible for reelection.

Contending for the Republican nomination for senator in Oklahoma are Pat J. Patterson and Don Kinkaid, both of Oklahoma City, and Clifton Wood, Ardmore.

In Ohio, Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes has opposition for renomination from William L. White, a Mount Vernon businessman he defeated by a 9-1 margin four years ago.

Bidding for the Democratic nomination for governor are state Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., Toledo, and Harry H. McIlwain, a Cincinnati attorney and member of the legislature.

Taft's Son in Race

Robert Taft Jr., son of the late U. S. senator, is seeking the Republican nomination to Congress in the 1st district. He is opposed by William E. Flax, a Cincinnati attorney and member of the John Birch Society.

Taft served one term in Congress but was beaten when he tried two years ago to win a Senate seat.

If nominated, his opponent in the fall election will be Democratic Rep. John J. Gilligan who has no opposition in the Democratic primary.

A race of particular interest in Indiana is one between two incumbent Republican congressmen, Reps. Ralph Harvey and Richard L. Roudebush. They were placed in the same district by a redistricting law enacted last year.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, Democrat, is unopposed for renomination in New Mexico. The state's two representatives, Thomas Morris and E. S. Johnson Walker, Democrats, also are unopposed for renomination.

First of Year

State Sen. Gene Lusk and former Gov. John Burroughs are contending for the Democratic nomination for Governor. In a primary contest for the Republican nomination are Clifford J. Hawley and David F. Oargo, both of Albuquerque.

These primaries are the first of the year. With each state setting its own date, primaries or nominating conventions for the other 44 states are scattered through the intervening weeks into October.

In the general election Nov. 8, voters will choose all the 435 House members of the new Congress to sit during the last two years of President Johnson's present term. Thirty-three states will elect 35 senators. Virginia and South Carolina each elect two.

And 35 states will elect governors.

Investor With Big Profit
Advised to Hold Half

Q) "A long time ago I bought 55 shares of Boeing at a cost of $2,495. Today, because of a split and stock dividends, I have shares worth $32,000. Should I sell all or half and increase my savings, which are quite substantial? My stocks currently yield me four per cent and support me, together with pension and bank interest. The only stock I am disturbed about is U. S. Steel."

A) I congratulate you on your purchase of Boeing. This is one of the finest aircraft and space project companies. The shares have been split again, as you know, and the dividend raised. Over half of Boeing's business is with commercial airlines and the balance with the government. I believe this company has a fine future but, in your position, I would be inclined to sell half my holdings and accept a substantial profit.

Since your savings appear adequate, I suggest you invest the proceeds in American Telephone 5 1/2 per cent debentures of 2001 at 100% to yield 5.10 per cent. I would sell Big Steel, which has got nowhere in two years in spite of sharply rising earnings. The proceeds might be placed in American Natural Gas—a highly regarded company with a consistent record of growth—at a current yield of 3.90 per cent. Q) "During inflationary periods, I have heard that it is advisable to invest in 'the ground' types of stock such as petroleum. What issue would you advise?"

A) In my opinion, considering the "in the ground" types of stock as a hedge against inflation is a rather hoary shibboleth. I like many of the oils, not because they have assets in the ground but because in general they have consistently grown faster in earnings and price than the dollar has been evaluated.

At present, I favor Texaco, which has a long record of enhanced earnings and price. The shares have increased in value more than 150 per cent over the past decade.

Charge Dutchess Youths in Theft Of Piper Plane

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—

Two youths were arrested Monday and accused of stealing a small seaplane and crashing it in the Hudson River. Police said James Price, 17, and Geoffrey Kenersen, 20, both of Poughkeepsie, took the plane, a Piper Cub, from White's marina at New Haxburg, flew it a few miles up the river and crashed it after attempting to land near the Marina.

Price and Kenersen were held in Dutchess County jail pending a hearing Wednesday. They were charged with first degree grand larceny. The plane, valued at $2,500, is owned by Paul Druskas of Wappinger. Druskas said damage to his craft amounted to $1,000.

question arose as to whether the passage of the ordinance required that three-quarters of the Common Council members present or three-quarters of the entire Council body of 13, was needed for passage of the ordinance.

Murphy told The Freeman today that the matter was "a very simple issue." He said that the interpretation lies in Section 83 of the General City Law, which provides that the Common Council may amend a zoning ordinance "on its own motion or petition," and that if 20 per cent of the landowners involved in the ordinance, the ordinance amendment shall not be passed "except by a three-quarters vote of the Council."

In commenting on the public informational meeting, Feeney said: "It is imperative that there be a rapid move towards completion of the Master Plan for the college. At the meeting scheduled for May 9, a review of the accomplishments of the college will be presented and a thorough analysis will be made of the space needs for the college for the few years ahead. It is hoped that everyone interested in the future of Ulster County Community College will attend this important meeting."

Grandma's Music Is Latest Kick In Record Hits

NEW YORK (AP) — Listening to records made by a plump-gray-haired grandmother who warbles and whistles rock 'n' roll songs, mostly off-key, is the current kick in U.S. pop music.

The singer is Mrs. Elva Miller of Claremont, Calif., 35 miles east of Los Angeles. Her family was against Mrs. Miller's trying to make records but she went ahead.

Her first long-playing record, "Mrs. Miller's Greatest Hits," was released by Capitol Records April 11 and sold 50,000 copies its first two days out. The "LP" and two songs taken from it and released as a single, "Downtown" and "A Lover's Concerto," all are on the best-selling charts compiled by Billboard Magazine.

Mrs. Miller sings with a vibrato which sounds as if she had once studied voice, which she did. Meanwhile she often changes key and goes flat, reminiscent of the late Florence Foster Jenkins.

She sucks ice cubes while she does her bird-like whistles, to contract the muscles for a more-controlled pucker.

Ed Sullivan has signed her for an appearance on his TV show May 22.

Disc jockeys apparently love the novelty of "The Miller sound." A station in Denver played the record 24 hours straight.

The program — this week it comes from a Philadelphia market — promises at the outset that the show will give contestants a "chance to run wild

"It is a test of speed and agility for the runners," Malone said. "And for the contestants it to his game show, he does the

He says he covers the frantic supermarket race in the same style he uses for football plays.

He is also in demand for commercials, and for some seasons was the spokesman for a gaso-

The great television audience can now relax. The big decision has been made — Van Williams will play "The Green Hornet"

on ABC next season.

You may remember Van — he

If you wondered whatever

"Mother's Day. The honor of the origination of Mother's Day belongs to Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia. Her mother died in 1906. On Sunday, May 9, 1907, she told a friend whom she had invited to remember with her the anniversary of the death of her mother of her desire to de-dedicate a day to all mothers. Before the next anniversary came she had interested many individobservance of the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.

"As a result of her efforts,

Philadelphia observed the day,

May 10, 1908. Miss Jarvis then became the missionary of the idea. She wrote thousands of letters to influential men in all walks of life for the observance of the day. Since 1912 the governor of Texas has observed the day by pardoning a number of prisoners on that day. State

In closing how about all you

And for those whose mothers

All But Endorsed

Party Chiefs Rally Behind Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller was all but endorsed for re-election today as GOP leaders rallied behind him in a display of the power of positive thinking.

The Republican State Committee adopted Monday a resolution expressing strong approval of Rockefeller's two-term record as governor and of the records of his running mates, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson and Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

Testimony Starts In Morhouse Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — A jury of 10 men and two women begins hearing testimony today in the bribe-conspiracy trial of L. Judson Morhouse, former Republican state chairman accused of accepting $18,000 to help the Manhattan Playboy Club get its liquor license.

Before State Supreme Court Justice Abraham Gellinoff, the jury was selected Monday from a panel of 70 prospects.

Last December Morhouse was indicted on six counts charging conspiracy, bribery and the acceptance of unlawful fees. He pleaded innocent. The charges also involve Martin C. Epstein, former chairman of the State Liquor Authority. He was indicted on charges of bribery and income tax evasion.

The state contends that the club agreed to pay $100,000 to Morhouse and $50,000 to Epstein in the alleged conspiracy. Morhouse was said to have received $18,000 from the Playboy promoters and Epstein $25,000.

Faces Attica Term

MAYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Clayton A. Sinclair of Newark, Ohio, faces a 25-year-to-life term in Attica State Prison after he pleaded guilty to the murder of a tavern-owner during a holdup.

Unanimous Adoption

The resolution, adopted unanimously by the 150 committee members on hand, tagged the governor as "best qualified" to lead this state into the 1970s and pledged "vigorous unified support" for the GOP state campaign next fall.

The resolution was approved after State Chairman Carl Spad told the meeting:

"The greatest obstacle we have to overcome is defeatism. Let's talk like winners, act like winners and do like winners."

Spad and other speakers hammered away at the theme of party unity in the light of Sen. Jacob K. Javits' announcement Sunday that he would support Rockefeller for re-election.

Javits originally was seen as a contender himself, but Rockefeller nailed down the nomination before New York's senior senator, also a Republican, could make any serious move.

The resolution on Rockefeller stopped just short of urging his nomination. Party aides said there was a legal question as to whether the committee could endorse a nominee before the state convention meets Sept. 7-8 at Rochester.

May Tab Murphy

Meanwhile, the GOP has yet to choose a candidate for the state comptroller's slot on the ticket. Party leaders, nevertheless, are reported leaning towards State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy.

The meeting officially was called to change the rules for apportioning seats on the committee and delegates to the state convention.

The party leaders shifted the basis for electing members and delegates from Assembly districts to counties, increasing committee strength from 300 to 343 members and the number of convention delegates from 1,377 to 1,417.

Under the new legislative apportionment, Assembly districts crossed county lines freely, and party leaders wanted to ensure that each county would have representation of its own.

Britons Staging Spending Spree To Escape Taxes

LONDON (AP) — Britons staged a last-minute spending spree today to escape higher sales taxes the Labor government was expected to order in the new budget.

Commentators predicted that Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan, in the budget to be read in the House of Commons this afternoon, would announce $560 million in tax increases.

One government aim is to check domestic purchases of consumer goods so as to increase the exports which Britain needs to put her foreign trade in balance and pay off her overseas debts.

Another is to finance expanded social services promised during the election campaign.

Stores reported record demand for washing machines and similar durable goods.

Drivers lined up at filling stations to beat the increase anticipated in the already heavy gasoline tax. Liquor stores reported steady sales.

Tobaccoists reported business as usual. Smokers apparently thought the current price of 77 cents a pack — 80 per cent of it tax — unlikely to go up.

Callaghan already had announced plans to impose a new tax on all forms of betting — a major industry in Britain — and to use the proceeds to finance cheaper mortgages.

Introduction of a payroll tax also was predicted. Government economists believe many smaller firms hoard skilled workers and keep them out of larger export industries.

Dying Boy Has Minor Desire; Wants Dog Back

By PATRICK J. ZISKA
Cleveland Plain Dealer Writer
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) —

Twelve-year-old Billy Adkins wants very little from the short life he has yet to live.

He wants his pet dog, Cookie back.

Billy, who has cancer, has been despondent since the dog wandered away from his home about two weeks ago.

Did Not Return

His mother, Mrs. Alvis Adkins, said her husband let Cookie out of the house as usual, but the dog did not return.

Since then the family has been trying desperately to find her.

"We have eight children," Mrs. Adkins said, "but Cookie has always been Billy's dog only."

She said the three-year-old mixed breed was given to Billy nearly two years ago by friends and the boy and dog have been inseparable.

Out Two Years

Billy, who can't leave his bed, had to withdraw from school two years ago because of the disease. The boy spent most of his time with Cookie.

Mr. and Mrs. Adkins also are worried about another son, Army PFC. Herbert Adkins, 22, who was wounded April 4 in Viet Nam and is recuperating near Saigon. They tried to reach him by phone but couldn't get through.

"When we're not thinking about Herbert, we're worrying about Billy and the dog," she said. "We've had offers of other dogs, but Billy wants only Cookie."

"It seems so little to want and yet it means so much," she said.

TAGGED—Caught not in a game but in war, a bound and gagged Vietnamese villager awaits interrogation after U.S. Marines overran an area 25 miles west of Da Nang. Suspected of Viet Cong ties, the prisoner bears a tag telling questioners: "... believe to know more than he knows."

Think Dominican Force to Stay

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Diplomats and other foreign observers in Santo Domingo think the Inter-American Peace Force may remain in the Dominican Republic through the summer.

They said today indications are that neither of the two leading presidential candidates will obtain an overwhelming mandate in the election next month, and the 8,000-man force will be needed to help the winner consolidate his position. There are 6,800 U.S. troops in the peace force.

The new president is to be installed on June 30. The observers speculate that the inter-American force may stay in the country until September.

The general expectation is that ex-President Juan Bosch, candidate of the Dominican Revolutionary party, will defeat Joaquin Balaguer of the Reformist party, but that he won't get the 60 per cent vote he got in 1962.

U.S. troops fired on left-wing extremists who attacked a peace force observation post last Thursday after an anti-American demonstration in front of the U.S. Embassy. Six Dominicans were wounded.

But a general improvement in the internal political situation and withdrawal of the peace force from the central part of Santo Domingo has heightened the hopes of some Dominicans that the foreign troops will leave soon. Officials in Washington reportedly hope for a withdrawal in July.

Neutral observers consider this too optimistic. They said although the peacekeeping efficiency of the Dominican armed forces and national police has increased — with U.S. help — during the past six months, its real test will come when the electoral campaign heats up this month.

LBJ, Lodge to Confer

Mindreading Seen Necessary
To Fathom Viet Nam People

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Johnson and Henry Cabot Lodge meet here next week they will try mind-reading, not on each other but on the people of South Viet Nam.

Since neither Johnson nor Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, knows for sure what to expect in that troubled land, the best they can do is guess, which would be bad enough if they only had to guess about the Communists.

Trouble With Friends
But they have to do even more guessing about the people whom this country is supposed to be protecting from the ravages of Communism at a cost of billions of dollars and thousands of American lives.

Not all the people in South Viet Nam are anti-Communist. Some are pro-Communist. Some are indifferent. Some are pro-American, some anti-American, and some are against each other.

In that little Southeast Asian peninsula, cries of gratitude to the United States get lost some times in shouts of "down with Americans" as loyalties get tangled in politics, religion, and worry about living costs.

It must have come as cold comfort to Johnson — and to Lodge, as he made his way homeward to Washington this week — to read what U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, said last Friday in France.

Situation Worsening
The situation in Viet Nam has gone from bad to worse and is becoming more complex and more difficult as the days go on, he said, urging negotiations.

Then, as if he also were as confused and uncertain as everyone else, Thant in France was saying Monday he sees little or no chance for a negotiated settlement.

Meanwhile, for a man as quick to talk as he is, Johnson in the White House maintained a strange and almost Buddha-like silence on the subject of Viet Nam.

But the turmoil couldn't be brushed under the rug, as Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara made plain Monday when he said the U.S. military effort against the Viet Cong was greatly reduced because of the political unrest in South Viet Nam.

Had Three Fears
"We were afraid of civil war," he said, "we were afraid of the separation of the entire northern part of the country, and of the overthrow of the government."

There has been a three-week lull in the ground fighting as the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars avoid combat.

The Buddhists have been the main cause of the rumpus in the South, wanting the military government out. But there is evidence of friction among the Buddhists. And there is friction between Catholics and Buddhists.

And last week, before Lodge began his trip to Washington, carried placards saying, "Some Catholic demonstrators carried placards saying, 'Lodge, go back to America.'"

And, if all this wasn't confusing enough, there were reports that the Viet Cong are getting a bit uneasy about the North Vietnamese regulars who have marched south to fight with them against the United States.

They are beginning to feel the North Vietnamese are treating them condescendingly, the reports claim.

Andrew Volstead, a Minnesota Congressman, introduced the National Prohibition Act of 1919.

Police Review Board Assured Civilian Control

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has ordered creation of a civilian-dominated review board to examine formal charges against policemen.

He thus fulfilled a campaign pledge to establish a new Police Department board setup.

Gives Outline
In a televised speech to the city Monday night, Lindsay said the board will consist of four civilians and three members of the Police Department, one of whom will be a uniformed officer holding the rank of captain or higher.

The mayor said the board will provide "independent and thorough investigation for the citizen who charges his rights have been violated."

He named a panel of 11 men, including three Negroes and a Puerto Rican, to recommend a list of persons from which he would pick the four civilians.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary, who was present when Lindsay made his announcement, will name three police officials to serve on the board.

Will Continue
The present board, which consists of three deputy police commissioners, will continue to hear complaints until the new panel is in operation.

Lindsay said confidence in the police had broken down in several areas of the city. "A widespread cause is the suspicion that citizens who feel they have been mistreated by police officers do not receive a fair, impartial hearing of their complaints," he said.

However, the mayor said the

Tier N-S Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tioga County, Pa., has been admitted to membership in the Appalachian Thruway Association.

The action Monday completed the county organization for the proposed, 350-mile superhighway between Cumberland, Md., and Cortland, N.Y.

The county now will name its three delegates to the association board.

Representing the county at Monday's meeting here were John Antonio, president of the Mansfield chamber of commerce; Harold Strait, chairman of the chamber's highway committee and Chester Bailey, secretary of the chamber and publisher of the Mansfield Advertiser.

H. Robert Heiny of Williamsport, a member of the association board, presided at the meeting.

The Appalachian Regional Commission has approved the thruway between Cumberland and Elmira, N.Y.

The association, a private, non-profit group, has proposed the extension from Elmira to Cortland, where the highway would join Interstate Route 81.

The thruway plan calls for use of existing highway where possible. New segments would be built to the limited-access standards of the interstate highway system.

Has Hearing May 24

A Dutchess County man, Clement Parkinson, 36, of Compton Road, Hyde Park was arrested Monday on a warrant charging sale of alcoholic beverages without a license. The arrest was made by Highland troopers. The alleged act took place on April 10 at the White Rock Hotel, Ardonia. Parkinson was released in custody of his attorney for a hearing on May 24 before Justice of the Peace Lewis DiStasi of Town of Lloyd.

AP Writer Gets Pulitzer for Viet Reporting

NEW YORK (AP) — A newspaper campaign to prevent the confirmation of Boston Municipal Judge Francis X. Morrissey to the federal bench has won a Pulitzer Prize for the Boston Globe.

The newspaper was honored with a gold medal for public service in journalism for the campaign last summer.

Morrissey, who was sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., eventually withdrew.

Peter Arnett of The Associated Press won the 1966 Pulitzer Prize for international reporting from South Viet Nam. It was the third successive year the prize has gone to the news service for its coverage of the Asian conflict.

Rights Story Cited
Haynes Johnson of the Washington Evening Star won the award for national reporting with a civil rights story from Alabama. His father, Malcolm, of the old New York Sun won a Pulitzer in 1949 for reporting.

The awards were among 14 announced Monday on the 50th anniversary of the prizes made by the trustees of Columbia University.

In the field of letters, Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., received his second Pulitzer, a biography award for "A Thousand Days: John F. Kennedy in the White House." He won the history prize 20 years ago.

This year's history prize went to the late Perry Miller for the book, "The Life of the Mind in America: From the Revolution to the Civil War."

A 75-year-old authoress, Katherine Anne Porter, received the award in fiction for "The Collected Stories of Katherine Anne Porter."

For the third time in four years, no award was made in American drama.

Sculpture Exhibition By 'Geo' Scheduled From May 4-21

"Interaction Sculpture" by Nadas Geo, of Highland, racked up another "first" for the East Hampton Gallery at 22 West 56 Street in New York City, where samples of the Ulster County artist's creators will be on display May 4-21.

The local sculptor arrived at this new form of art two years ago. Critics regard his work as inventive, experimental, combining a long aesthetic memory and a deep sense of survival with an active scientific spirit beyond surface treatment as basic assumption. Her new direction may be defined as kinetic where the motive power is supplied not by impersonal elements, the wind and waves, or electrification or etc. but by the individual, the individual's desire to play and build, to experiment, to create in the image of his own rhythm and his own feeling for order.

The samples shown come in sets of white abstract architectural forms made of hand carved concrete and iron. Several recurring themes may be labeled for identification as the double ring, the dance group, the leader, the open frame, the blind window, the spiral and the cave.

Since a set can be assembled indoors or outdoors at any height convenient for the viewer and since each form can be positioned many ways the possible compositions with a set is in practice unlimited. By actually moving and positioning differently one or more forms of a set the viewer contributes the composition thus interacting with the sculpture as a whole in a creative way.

Geo studied at the Podolini School of Fine Arts in Budapest, Hungary and at the University of Oregon. Previously she has shown at the University of Oregon in 1961 with a group; had a solo show in 1962 at the 12th Avenue Gallery, Eugene, Oregon; another solo show in 1964 at the Haldis Arts Ltd. in Poughkeepsie, and in 1965 in New Canaan, Connecticut with the Silvermine Guild group.

Professor Kahin's talk, entitled "The United States and Viet Nam," will begin at 8 p. m. in Sottery Hall. The public is invited to attend.

A graduate of Harvard University, Professor Kahin has his M.A. from Stanford and his Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins University. He specializes in the international relations of Asia, including the Far Eastern policy of the United States, and in the governments and politics of the states of Southeast Asia. He is now completing a book on American relations with Indonesia, and is engaged upon a study of the political thought of President Sukarno. His other publications include Nationalism and Revolution in Indonesia (1952), The Asian-African Conference (1956), Major Governments of Asia (1958), and Governments and Politics of Southeast Asia (1959).

Vassar College Plans Concert, Dance Class

The Vassar College Orchestra, under the direction of Boris Koutzen, will present a concert May 4 at 8:30 p. m. in Skinner Hall. Mr. Koutzen, who is retiring from Vassar this June, has conducted the Vassar Orchestra for 20 years. Area residents are cordially invited to attend.

The program consists of Mozart's Symphony in E flat major, no. 39, Les Nuits d'été, op. 7 by Hector Berlioz, and Eight Russian Folk Songs for Orchestra by Anatol Lyadov. Mr. Koutzen will be assisted by Catherine Aspinall and Karen Ranung, sopranos, and Albert van Ackere, baritone.

In the afternoon Merce Cunningham, noted dancer, choreographer, and teacher, will teach a master class in dance in Student's Building at 2:30 o'clock. Those wishing to participate should secure tickets at Kenyon Hall. Spectators may watch from the balcony without tickets.

Cunningham, who was soloist with The Martha Graham Company from 1940 to 1946, is called an expressionist or modern dancer rather than a ballet dancer. Critics have called him a prodigiously gifted dancer and a master in technique. He is noted for an instinct for form and a sense of physical rhythm that are both subtle and clear.

9 Longhairs Shave Heads

DETROIT (AP)—Nine members of Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity at Wayne State University met at a barber shop Monday to protest "the greatest social issue of our time."

Their long hair, a symbol of "the emasculation of the American college man," gave way to shaven heads.

"We think that men are losing their identity," one student explained.

A coed looked at the bald pates and said: "It gives them a certain distinction, all right. They all look awful."

Local Delegates Attend YAF State Parley in Gotham

Area members of Young Americans for Freedom attended the State Conference of YAF Saturday at the Park Sheraton Hotel, New York City.

Joining with hundreds of their fellow members from across the state, were Robert Tomaszewski, treasurer, Ulster County High School Chapter YAF; Anna May Hughes, activities committee member; Mrs. Jean C. Rickard, chapter advisor; and Mrs. William J. Everts of Saugerties.

David Jones, YAF national executive director, delivered the initial address of the day. He stressed eight projects which YAF, as the nation's fastest growing organization of young conservatives, will be pursuing most vigorously: oppose trade with the enemy; support legislation favoring voluntary prayer in the schools; support victory in Viet Nam; defeat of communism at home as well as abroad; defeat of National Student Council on college campuses; support freedom for Eastern Europe; oppose admission of Red China in the UN; and support State Right to Work Law.

Forums Are Held

The full day's session included forums on furthering conservatism, combatting communism, the situation in Viet Nam, and practical politics and college work-shops.

Dr. Henry Paolucci, 1964 Conservative Party nominee for the U.S. Senate, and professor of History at Iona College, was the luncheon speaker. Dr. Paolucci also was one of the speakers at the forum, What Is Conservatism. He said that, "the conservative movement is the effort of the productive groups in the country to resist the emergence of tyranny."

The other speaker was Dr. Joseph Dunner, chairman of political science, Yeshiva University. He discussed the "balancing of two values for the individual in society, namely, liberty and social responsibility." He said that "this is the question which only the conservative of today can answer, and he must do so."

Dr. Richard V. Allen, chairman, Study Program on Communism, Georgetown University, delivered the keynote address, New Directions in Communist Strategy. Referring to the Communists, he said, "They are not going to let us alone until we give in."

Charles Wiley, noted foreign correspondent and authority on international communism, spoke at the Viet Nam forum. Discussing free elections, he said, "We must analyze 'free elections.' It is ludicrous to talk about free elections when Communists are allowed to participate, because once they win an election, the ball game is over, and there are never any further free elections."

Phillip Abbott Luce, author of The New Left, said that "the Communists want us out of Viet Nam for only one reason—so that they can go in. All the Communist groups are united on this one point."

Our Lady of Lourdes Snaps Kingston Winning Streak, 3 to 2

Maroon Setback First in Seven Games to Date

Our Lady of Lourdes of Poughkeepsie scored an unearned run in the sixth inning to shatter Kingston High's 5-game winning streak, 3 to 2, Monday at Dietz stadium.

Brian Bach, who relieved starter Frank McGowan in the sixth inning, was the victim.

With the score tied 2-2, John Sottile, Lourdes' third baseman, beat out a hit on a routine grounder to Gary Van Etten. Bach, in trying to pick Sottile off, threw wild to first and Sottile raced to third on the two-base error. Bob Giordano lined a single to center for the game winning blow.

An error by Lou Perry at short put runners on second and third before Bach fanned Thornton to stop the rally.

Hurley Five-Hitter

Mike Antalek limited the Maroons to five hits but numerous Maroon rallies were snuffed out by costly running mistakes on the basepaths. Antalek, who fanned five, yielded both Kingston tallies in the second.

Loures greeted starter Frank McGowan with two runs in their first turn at bat. Jack Tailing led off with a bunt single, stole second and third. Antalek walked, stole second and both scored on Sottile's double.

Kingston squared it 2-2 in the second as Bill Dugan led off with an infield hit. Rios forced Dugan at second, then stole second and moved to third when the catcher's throw hit him.

Gary Van Etten walked, advanced on a wild pitch and McGowan delivered the equalizers with a line single to right.

A mild Kingston flurry in the seventh saw Bach walk with one out and get forced by Jack Watzka, who advanced to second on an overthrow. Antalek fanned Pete Watzka to end the game.

Kingston pitchers—McGowan (10) and Bach (6) accounted for 16 strikeouts but still lost the game. McGowan yielded three hits in four innings and Bach gave up one in three innings.

Monticello Raceway Set for Thursday Opener

MONTICELLO — It was the usual hectic scene at Monticello Raceway this morning as it always the case on the day entries are taken for opening night. In this instance, opening night is Thursday and racing secretary Ed Parker was busily engaged making up the opening card while judges, clerks and horsemen hurried in, out and around his office.

But as busy as things were, all key personnel were either present or accounted for. And, that includes some horsemen and horses who are scheduled to compete on opening night but who are not presently on the grounds.

"It looks like an excellent opening card," said Parker, "but some people will be disappointed when they find out Graelm won't race opening night. She just isn't ready to race according to her trainer, Bill Haughton, who worked her this morning."

Haughton Backs Off

Graelm is the fabulous Australian trotting champion who has been at the Mighty M ten days undergoing her American training period. She was scheduled to race opening night providing she trained well.

Haughton was here to work the eight-year-old mare this morning and reported he was happy with her training session. "However," said the nation's leading driver, "she won't be ready for your opening night. We want her to make a good showing and she's simply not up to a race yet."

Managerment, undaunted by the fact that the opening night throng won't see the Aussie champ in a race, went right ahead and made plans for her to at least be seen on the track. The holder of most antipodes trotting records will go an exhibition training mile after the featured fourth race. She will probably make her U. S. debut next week in a featured Mighty M trot.

Seven in $4,000 Race

The race for Graelm on opening night, a $4,000 trot, drew seven outstanding entries. If Graelm had been ready to race she would have found herself in against such crack trotters as Zinnia Hanover, Aqua Land, Pro Hanover, Just Jamie, Jes R. Hoot, Hasty Song and Argo Can.

The trotters for the opening feature have all been racing in fast class events around the country with the exception of Zinnia Hanover. A winner in 2:04 3/5 over a half-mile strip last year, Zennia will be making her first start of the year for trainer Levi Harner and owner Ted Zornow (of) Pittsford, N. Y.

Harner will be one of the new faces seen at the Mighty M opening night. Among the others are Gene Sears, Clint Galbraith, Jack Quinn and John Schroeder. Additionally, Buddy Gilmour will be on hand to rein several and horses from the Johnny Chapman and Jim Michaels stables will also compete.

Officials on Hand

Supervising the draw for post positions this morning was Howard Dobler, who will be the presiding judge. Dobler, a native of Clarence, N. Y., presided at the Mighty M during the 1963 and 1964 seasons.

Other officials for the meet are Vince Bergamo of Goshen, and Peter Avalone of Bronxville, who will be the associate judges; Bill Rossbach will return as the starter; Ben Picoult is back as paddock judge; Dr. Stanley Glick as track veterinarian and popular Alan Crawford as track steward.

The new official will be Phil Tully of Monticello, who is really not new. Phil is the Mighty M's assistant race secretary and will have additional duties as the track announcer.

Benhenke Pigeon Takes K-UC Race

A Lee Benhenke pigeon captured first place in the Kingston-Ulster Racing Pigeon Club's 250 mile race from Washington, D. C.

There was a difference of only four yards between Benhenke's winning bird and a pigeon owned by Fred Polizzi of Mt. Marion.

The final result indicates that the two birds were neck and neck all the way home. Bad weather conditions was the reason only five of 167 birds from 16 competing lofts were able to average better than 1,000 yards per minute.

Benhenke's winning bird average 1044.352 yards per minute. Polizzi's runnerup, 1040.112.

Work Crews Busy at Onteora; Rules Changes Rev Up Field

Work crews have been working double time to install a new hub rail for Friday night's seasonal opener at Onteora Speedway in Olive Bridge.

They have been busy, too, checking the lighting, painting and all the little details that go into refurbishing a plant before the annual opener.

The new ruling on both sportsman and the novice division is expected to attract a bumper crop of cars. Drivers from previous years have revamped cars to include many new groups that were formerly of the late model variety.

Warren Nissen has gone all out divesting himself of the cut-down flathead and set up a coach sportsman with a 327 Chevy. Donnie Beesmer also has a new car, sporting a 327 for brother Ernie to drive.

Loren Holland and Dick Yocmans, both of White Lake, have gone to the overhead type engine. Others expected to be on the scene for the grand opening are: Doug Garrison, Stretch Van Steenburgh, Gordon Aldrich, Harold Montanye (in the new Fred Searing car that is real rapid), plus several others from speedways throughout the state and New England.

Change In Novice
The Novice division will also surprise many of the fans, as the engine size has been increased. The flathead sedans have been allowed extra goodies to bring them on a par with their overhead counterparts. Ron Santosky, Doug Tyler, John Miller, Stan Effner, Joe Woods and many others from last year's field will be joined by cars from other speedways.

The increase in cars is expected from the new three-way setup arranged between Victoria Speedway and Lebanon Valley Speedway.

The pit gate will open at 6 p. m. with general admission gate open at 7 p. m. First event is scheduled at 8:30 p. m.

Schayes Nettled By 76ers Ousting

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "I feel I didn't let anybody down," says Dolph Schayes, who was fired Monday as coach of the Philadelphia 76ers professional basketball team.

Schayes, the National Basketball Association's Coach of the Year, said he was "disappointed" by the action of owner Irv Kosloff. He added: "We did pretty well at Philly."

The 76ers won the eastern division championship this year but lost the NBA playoffs to the Boston Celtics.

Schayes praised the team and his successor, Alex Hannum, saying Philadelphia fans would "love Hannum, and I know he's going to do very well."

Hannum recently was released by the San Francisco Warriors after coaching for three seasons.

Schayes, who lives here with his wife and children, coached the 76ers for three years. He said he had no plans for the future.

The 20-year-old left-hander appearing in his first ABC Tournament, rolled games of 236, 233 and 220 to match the total compiled by Joe Schmidt of Albany, N.Y.

Mother of 6 Rules Out Heart Implant
EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP) —An Illinois mother of six has a tentative appointment to be treated by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, famed Houston, Tex., heart surgeon.

But Mrs. Phyllis Wright, 45, of Effingham, laughed off reports Monday that she would be the second person to have DeBakey's history-making partial artificial heart implanted in her chest.

The first to receive the heart device was Marcel DeRudder, a 65-year-old Westville, Ill., coal miner who died of a ruptured lung last Wednesday. DeBakey's revolutionary plastic heart machine kept DeRudder alive five days.

Asked if she was to undergo the same operation as DeRudder, Mrs. Wright said "definitely not. It's nothing but plain old surgery — if they do it."

The rattlesnake leaves its mother immediately after birth.

Sees War Threat
STRASBOURG, France (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant warned today that political, economic and racial tensions are threatening to push mankind into the total disaster of a third world war.

Speaking to the European Consultative Assembly, Thant called on the peoples of Europe to devote their talents and genius to efforts to prevent another global conflict.

Thant proposed that the United Nations undertake a thorough study of the probable effects of a nuclear war on the world's population and civilizations.

He said such a report should be distributed as widely as possible in all languages to alert the average person to the dangers hanging over humanity.

Thant said the causes of tension are the East-West political struggle, the growing gap between the have and have-not nations, the breakup of the colonial system and racial discrimination in several forms.

These include Arlene Childers for president, Patrick Kartheiser for first vice-president, Marilyn Duer for second vice-president, Mary Pardonner for secretary, and Barbara Buche and Marilyn Francello for treasurer. Terry Lebrun, president of the organization, said additional candidates may be nominated at the May meeting.

Saugerties Jaycees will serve as coordinators for all local Jaycees from New Paltz, Woodstock, Hudson and Coxsack to assist Jaycees in registration for their Sports Spectacular to be held in Kingston on July 7, 8 and 9.

Schafer Given Bar Association Special Citation
Ulster County Bar Association's Liberty Bell Award was presented Monday afternoon to Louis H. Schafer who retired late last year as YMCA executive secretary after serving 22 years. The ceremony was held at Ulster County Court.

The Liberty Bell Award recognizes community service. Criteria for the awards as follows:

Recognizes Service
The award will recognize outstanding service performed in keeping with the spirit of the Constitution imposing upon citizens the duty to strengthen and safeguard the blessings of liberty for themselves and succeeding generations.

Such service would include activities which: Promote a better understanding of the U. S. form of government; encourage greater respect for law and the courts; educate the people in the contrasts between Communism and freedom under law; stimulate a deeper sense of individual responsibility; to the end that citizens recognize their duties as well as their rights.

The Liberty Bell Award consists of a bronze relief replica of the Liberty Bell mounted on a wood shield fashioned out of Filipino mahogany.

Last year's recipient was John Lawson, IBM employee, who had served on many worthy civic projects including his term of office as president of Pageant, Incorporated, under the patronship of the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce of Kingston.

List Speakers
The ceremonies included a color guard; address by George A. Beck, president of Ulster County Bar Association; address by Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Ellsworth; presentation of award to Schafer.

During his 22 years in this area Schafer has been prominent in civic activities and attained a position of leadership in the community.

In 1963 he received the VFW Outstanding Citizen Award and in 1965 was awarded the Kingston Newspaper Guild's Page One Award for outstanding work in the field of recreation.

Chrysler Recalls 1966 Vehicles for Checks
DETROIT (AP) — The Chrysler Corp. has called in 182,000 vehicles for repairs because of possible faulty installation of a front suspension system of some 1966 Dodge and Plymouth automobiles.

A company spokesman said Monday the firms know of two cases in which two nuts came off a control arm strut to the front suspension system and 30 other cases where the nuts were found to be loose.

Chrysler officials said the loose nuts were discovered on Dodge Coronets and Chargers and Plymouth Belvederes and Satellites built at Detroit and Los Angeles.

The company said mechanical inspections were ordered late last month on all the cars, about 45 per cent of which were brought to dealers for adjustment.

Just Like 1886
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For just 35 cents Monday night, the first hundred patrons at the Fior D'Italia restaurant in San Francisco's North Beach were able to buy an eight-course dinner similar to one served there in 1886.

After the antipasto and hors d'oeuvres, the special birthday anniversary dinner consisted of salad, soup, ravioli, veal scallopini or roast chicken, dessert and a beverage. Wine was served with the meal.

"Tonight," said George Mari-anetti, one of the owners, "that dinner will cost you $6 and I'll be lucky to make a 5 per cent profit."

See Hints of Tension In Protestant Unity

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Hints of tension were apparent today over the tempo of steps toward a broad reunion of American Protestants.

The scattered go-slow notes came as representatives of eight major denominations pondered a proposed outline that would join them into a single church with 24 million members.

Dirksen Assails Housing Section Of Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has its first skirmish today over President Johnson's new civil rights bill, with its fair housing section apparently already doomed.

What sounded like a fatal blow to a provision banning racial or religious discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing was struck by Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Oppose Deadline
He called this part of the bill "absolutely unconstitutional" and said that if it is retained, he could not support any move to break a filibuster against the legislation.

"If you can tell me what interest commerce is involved in selling or renting a house fixed to the soil, or where there is federal jurisdiction, I'll go out and eat the chimney off the house," Dirksen said.

Both Dirksen and Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said they would oppose any move to fix a deadline for action on the bill by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., reserved the right to make such a move when the bill was introduced in the Senate last Thursday.

In the past the Judiciary Committee, with Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., as chairman, has been a dead end for civil rights bills in the absence of instructions by the Senate to act within a specific time.

Dirksen played a crucial role in the passage of the comprehensive Civil Rights Bills of 1964 and last year's voting rights measure.

LWV Adopts New Program, Convention Concern Urged

The League of Women Voters of Kingston at their recent annual meeting voted in a new local program for 1966-67 and heard Dr. Willis Raff, professor of Political Science, State University College at New Paltz urge the League to be vitally concerned with the up-coming Constitutional Convention.

Dr. Raff outlined the events leading up to the passage of the referendum to hold a Constitutional Convention for New York State and quoted sections from the present Constitution which were vague, obsolete, and needlessly wordy. Many passages indicate to what extent pressure groups have used the Constitution to protect and guarantee themselves special privileges. It is hoped that the convention will alleviate the ever-growing problem of too-many amendments for voter consideration each election.

It is conceivable that the next election could confront the voter with 20 amendments, too many to insure an intelligent vote in the three minutes allotted in the voting booth.

Sees Political Pressure
Dr. Raff said that because of the wide scope of issues involved, affecting all areas and interests in the State, the convention will be strongly politically oriented. Every delegate will be subject to pressure groups. He

'Female Bond' Goes Into Action

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The white limousine drew into the parking lot and the girl at the wheel looked drawn after a night of singing in a club.

As she got out, the two youths pounced on her, one of them reaching for her neck with a rope, the other brandishing a gun. Then it happened:

The girl tossed them both to the ground with expert judo throws. When they came after her again she wrenched the automatic away from the gunman, shot and killed him and hit the other in the spine.

Police reported today this was how Jenny Christinov, 22, beat off a robbery and rape attempt in the parking lot of her home.

After the shootings, the Moroccan-born singer calmly woke up the night watchman and told him: "Please call the riot squad—I have just killed someone," police said.

Newspapers here called her "the female James Bond."

The assailants, aged 17 and 18, were two unemployed Syrians.

Uphold Bookmaker Ban

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An appellate court has upheld the right of racetrack officials to eject convicted bookmakers from a track.

The State Supreme Court's Appellate Division, Third Department, said Monday a convicted bookmaker may be ousted even though he paid his admission and was betting through the pari-mutuel machines, where the state may take its tax percentage.

The decision upheld a lower-court ruling that dismissed a $50,000 suit for false arrest brought by a Monticello man against the Sullivan County Harness Racing Association, operator of Monticello Raceway.

William Gottlieb, 54, contended that he was ejected from the track on July 9, 1959, because of a gambling conviction 20 years earlier.

The case was appealed to the Appellate Division after it was dismissed by Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman, Sullivan County.

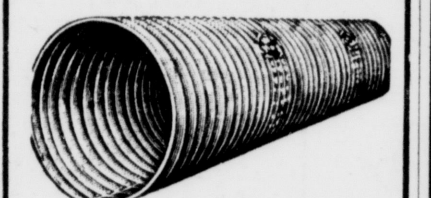

The Appellate division noted a state law that stipulates any "undesirable person" whose conduct is deemed detrimental to the best interest of racing may be expelled from a track.

Ky Hints Viet Vote Off Until At Least October

QUANG NGAI, Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky indicated today that the crucial general elections may be postponed.

"We will try to hold the elections by October," he said in an interview at the airbase here.

His original pledge in the face of Buddhist unrest a month ago was to have the vote "within three to five months," indicating September at the latest.

On the elections hinges Viet Nam's political future. The Ky government pledged them in the face of increasing demands for a civilian regime.

Ky made an unscheduled flight to this northern province to have a look at war-battered villages wrested recently from Viet Cong control.

He made his tour in a U.S. Marine helicopter. Heavily armed troops deployed and a plane constantly flew cover as the head of the military junta stepped over the scars of Viet Nam's fighting and tragedy.

He was greeted by silent crowds of men and women gathered near shell-smashed homes surrounded by fields sprayed by crop-killing chemicals.

"Pacification is progressing," Ky said. "In this area alone, 2,000 Viet Cong were killed in the past two months. This is great progress."

The premier said that pacification must "be carried effectively throughout the country" to permit the vote.

"We will try to hold the elections by October. If we are strong and determined, we can do it."

Pupils in Detroit Boycott List Reforms

DETROIT (AP)—Pupils who led a four-day boycott of Northern High School have issued a program of reforms and are demanding it be put into practice in two weeks.

The student leaders, Charles Colding, Michael Batchelor and Judy Walker, said they would ask 2,300 youngsters to walk out of classes again if the deadline is not met.

The three teen-agers returned to classes Monday for the first time since April 20 when they led out most of Northern pupils. Most of the other rebels returns last Tuesday. The school's enrollment predominantly is Negro.

Their original demand for ouster of Northern Principal Arthur T. Carty led to removal of the 64-year-old administrator. Colding and Batchelor said their demands include establishment of an investigating committee empowered to probe the students' charges that Northern offers an inferior education.

Paper Clip Use Saves Bomber From Crashing

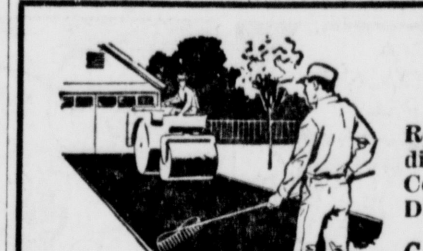

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A paper clip saved a 500,000-XB70A research bomber from breaking to pieces say its pilots.

Air Force Col. Joseph Cotton, copilot when the 185-foot craft made a test flight Saturday, said he used the clip to short circuit a balky relay panel and force a stuck nose gear down into landing position.

"I'm convinced we would have broken the plane to pieces if we had tried to land without the nose gear locked in position," said the pilot. Al White, of North American Aviation, Cotton spent more than an hour talking to the ground by radio before locating the terminals in a junction box and fashioning a connection from a paper clip. This bypassed a faulty relay and provided the signal to force the nose gear down.

Two Ellenville Fires

Ellenville firemen were called out at 12:20 a.m. today when smoke was seen coming from the Lonstein Motors building. A check showed a backfire in the heater was responsible. Also at 7 p.m. Monday firemen were called for a car fire. The fire was in a car owned by Patrick O'Gden of Gardiner.
